

Lincoln Speech 100 Years Ago Recalled Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — One hundred years ago today storm clouds darkened the skies over Washington.

Around noon, Abraham Lincoln stood on the east steps of the Capitol to take his oath of office for a second term.

According to an account of that day, as Lincoln placed his hand upon the Bible, the sun broke through.

"With malice toward none; with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right."

Those words of Lincoln in his second inaugural address were to sound from the east steps of the Capitol today.

Congress authorized the reenactment of history and ordered a recess in its activities to attend the ceremony. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Speaker of the House John W. McCormack were to be honored guests.

United Nations Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson wrote his own script to narrate the story; actor Robert Ryan, tall like Lincoln, found frock coat and stovepipe hat for his role as the nation's 16th president.

The congressional committee on arrangements reproduced as authentically as it could the stage setting of that day — the uncovered platform of rough, stained boards, the small table from which Lincoln spoke and two horse-drawn carriages to take the presidential party back to the White House.

The ceremony was to be filmed, under sponsorship of the arrangements committee. The film will be made available to schools across the country.

Negro Votes Sought By GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders concerned with reclaiming the Negro vote are considering setting up a national panel on minority policies headed by Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the name of Brooke, who holds the highest elective office filled by a Negro, had been mentioned as a possible head of a panel of this nature which may be set up by the new Republican Coordinating Committee.

The committee, composed of GOP leaders of Congress, former party presidential nominees, governors and members of the GOP National Committee, meets here Wednesday to organize.

At that time, Dirksen said he expects panels to be set up to study the fields of economic activities and foreign relations. He said no final conclusion has been reached yet on how to tackle the problems of the nation's minorities but establishment of a panel is under discussion.

"We certainly need to restore the confidence of the nation's minorities in the Republican party and this may be one approach to it," he said.

School Building Measure Calls For 122 Million

LANSING (AP)—Complaining that the state helps local school districts operate, but doesn't help them to build or improve facilities, Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, today prepared legislation for a $122 million state aid building and debt retirement fund.

The measure, to be introduced this week, should be considered as part of whatever fiscal reform package the legislature adopts this year, Spencer said. He also planned to introduce a companion bill setting up a state public school building and bond authority.

The six-member authority's primary objective would be determination of school building requirements around the state. "This bill will provide relief in that debt levies may be reduced and corresponding increases may be made in operating levies," Spencer said.

The bill would allow districts with mushrooming student populations to "hold their debt to a reasonable level," he said, and aid older districts, soon to be faced with extensive remodeling costs.

The measure calls for a sliding scale of state participation based primarily on the wealth of a district as expressed in the amount of state equalized valuation per pupil.

Assuming the state average to be $14,000 per pupil, Spencer said, state participation would range from nothing for a district with $28,000 to 85.8 per cent for the district with only $4,000 per pupil.

Assuming an average state capital outlay and debt cost of $60 per pupil, state participation would range from nothing to $31.48 each, he added.

Rep. Ford Plans To Study Status Of Fort Custer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul H. Todd, D-Mich., said today he will spend the weekend in Michigan to study future use of Ft. Custer, which has been declared surplus by the Defense Department.

Todd will tour the fort site, near Battle Creek, Monday along with members of the Michigan Legislature. A news conference has been scheduled at 4 p. m., after the tour.

There have been suggestions that the 13,000-acre site be used for recreational, park and other purposes.

Two New State Holidays Picked

LANSING (AP) — Presidential inauguration day seems about to become a holiday in Michigan.

The Senate moved without opposition Wednesday toward final passage of the holiday bill. It already has been approved in the House. It sets Jan. 20 in each year following a Presidential election as a legal holiday.

At the same time, a bill was introduced in the Senate which would set each Nov. 22 as John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Day, a legal holiday.

Greatest World Highway Passes Halfway Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction on the world's greatest highway program yet conceived — the 41,000-mile U.S. interstate system — is past the halfway mark and just about on schedule.

The program was set up by Congress in 1956 and 1972 set as the target date for completion. It will consist of 41,000 miles of high-speed highways to connect the nation's principal metropolitan areas, cities and industrial centers and to serve as a defense network of roads if needed.

The system generally is designed to take motorists whizzing along without worries about intersections, traffic lights and jammed city streets.

Cities Cause Delays
Today, a little more than eight years after the program was launched, 19,018 miles are open for traffic; construction is under way on another 5,196 miles, while engineering work or right-of-way acquisition is in progress for another 12,103.

The remaining 4,680 miles in the system are listed by the Bureau of Public Roads as in preliminary status or not started. Thus, about 89 per cent of the system is open or under way.

The bureau says the program is about on schedule and that completion in 1972 is possible. However, time is getting short for the drafting of plans for the unstarted segments, a spokesman said.

The pinch, he said, will be on segments in the urban areas — the roads designed to take traffic through, under or around cities. These portions of the system are costly because of the high value of the rights of way involved and frequently the routes are controversial.

Financed By Taxes
When the interstate system was authorized by Congress it called for a network of 40,000 miles of highways to cost an estimated $28 billion. The mileage has been increased to more than 41,000 and the latest cost estimated by the roads administrator, Rex M. Whitton, is $46.8 billion.

The latest estimate represents a $5.8-billion increase over the estimate submitted to Congress in 1961.

Through 1964, a total of $21.7 billion had been spent on the interstate system, roughly $19 billion of it federal money and $2.6 billion state money.

The federal share is financed by highway users through taxes on gasoline, new trucks and buses, tires and tubes and the like.

Armed Services Are Losing Men At Rapid Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite two military pay raises in as many years, the armed services are losing trained officers and enlisted men at a serious pace.

An Associated Press survey showed today that the services regard still inadequate pay, poor housing, prolonged separation from families and eroded fringe benefits as major factors.

The inability to hold onto trained men complicates an already difficult military manpower problem. Recruiting has been dropping because of speculation that the draft may be eliminated — something which is now considered unlikely.

Junior Officers Quit
The Army reported that more than three out of four junior reserve officers are leaving service after completing their obligated duty. It said about the same 75 per cent of first-term enlisted men are declining to sign up for a second hitch.

The Navy said that "last year we lost over 70,000 first-enlistment men who met the standards for re-enlistment," more than 12,000 of them electronics specialists.

It spoke of "serious shortages" of officers in the grades of lieutenant, lieutenant commander and commander, with current deficiencies totaling about 2,700 officers.

The Air Force said "our most critical retention problem exists in areas where the skills are in the greatest demand by industry."

Re-enlistments Decline
Overall, the first-term re-enlistment rate of airmen dropped about 6 per cent in two years to a level of only 29.5 per cent in fiscal 1964.

Air Force officer retention also was about 7 per cent below what the Air Force said is needed.

The Marine Corps reported that the first-term re-enlistment rate has declined over the past three years and is still going down. However, the Marine Corps said it has not yet detected a significant drop in officer retention.

The AP survey came a day after the new chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., proposed that the pay of the nearly 2.7 million men and women in uniform be raised an average of 10.7 per cent.

Rivers calculated his bill would cost an estimated $1 billion a year. It would come on top of $1.4 billion in military pay raises voted by Congress in two stages since 1963.

Moscow Students Battle Police, Smear U.S. Office

MOSCOW (AP) — Anti-American demonstrators attacked the U.S. Embassy with rocks and ink bottles today, drove back police with sticks and slingshots, then fought soldiers rushed in to control the mob.

More than 2,000 students from Moscow and Lumbumba universities were allowed by police to smash windows and smear the embassy walls with red and blue ink for about 10 minutes.

But when mounted police began to push the mob back it turned in fury.

Billie Sol Estes

Viet Nam Raid Pilot Hunted

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. forces pressed a search today for an American pilot missing since his jet fighter-bomber was shot down during the raid on Quang Khe.

The pilot, 1st Lt. Hayden J. Lockhart, of Springfield, Ohio, was flying an F100 assigned Tuesday to knocking out Communist antiaircraft batteries prior to bomb runs by Vietnamese Skyraiders.

Lockhart was seen bailing out over a wooded area and was presumed to have reached the ground safely. He has not been heard from since and is the only American casualty that has been reported from the raid.

American helicopters and amphibious planes rescued four other American pilots and one Vietnamese who were shot down during the raids Tuesday on the Quang Khe naval base and Xom Bang munitions depot.

Lockhart's father, Hayden J. Lockhart Sr. of Springfield, said the Air Force had informed him search parties had found his son's parachute and helmet. Lockhart's wife is in Alexandria, La.

Promoter Faces 15-Year Term For Mail Fraud

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes won what was possibly his last inning in court, but it was too late to keep the one-time captain of farm finance out of prison.

A federal court jury acquitted him Wednesday of fudging in sworn accounts of how much he owed to obtain Commodity Credit Corp. contracts paying more than $5 million a year for storage of surplus grain.

The West Texas promoter, credited with considerable influence in Washington and among some top business executives until he went broke in 1962, nevertheless is bound behind bars.

Review Denied
Estes, 40, was convicted in two earlier trials on state charges of swindling and federal charges of mail fraud and conspiracy, both based on dealings on around $24-million worth of mostly worthless mortgages on farm fertilizer tanks.

Only Monday, as his latest trial started here, the Supreme Court rejected Estes' final plea for review of his 15-year sentence in the mail-fraud case. He still is appealing an eight-year prison term on a state conviction of swindling.

His wife Patsy, a worried-looking blonde, and their son and four daughters listened to closing arguments from a front-row bench a few feet behind Estes.

As jurors returned after deliberating more than four hours, U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes firmly ordered spectators to refrain from any demonstration.

Debts In Millions
Judge Hughes read the verdict clearing Estes on all three counts and left the courtroom. Then his eldest child, Pam, 17, uttered a timid "yippee!"

A brief smile flitted across the usually impassive face of Estes. Marshals refused to let him answer when a reporter asked if he cared to comment.

With a catch in her voice, Mrs. Estes murmured: "I'm so glad he finally won a case."

The jury obviously accepted the version he gave in testifying for the first time at any of his trials. It sharply contradicted accounts from prosecution witnesses.

In this case the government claimed the chubby, black-haired defendant falsely swore he owed less than the actual amount of his debts on three occasions in 1960 and 1961. It said he understated the totals by $4 million to $5 million to show net worth required of grain storage contractors.

Estes denied his statements of liabilities were inaccurate. This was true, he said, because top executives of Commercial Solvents Corp. in New York had agreed secretly to sell him Anhydrous Ammonia (fertilizer) for $50 a ton, bill it at up to $90 a ton and rebate the difference.

He told the jury of seven men and five women his grain storage rentals, pledged entirely to Commercial Solvents, aggregated more than $7 million, canceling the $5 million he figured he owed the company.

Generals Can't Draw Back Pay

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled Wednesday that two suspended National Guard officers are entitled to their pay from Oct. 8 to Nov. 6 of last year but cannot be paid after that date until their cases are decided.

Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, the suspended guard adjutant general, and Brig. Gen. Carson Neffert, former quartermaster general, have protested they should be receiving pay while waiting for a decision on their ousters from Gov. George Romney.

McDonald said it was an Army principle that an officer could not be taken off the payroll "until he was convicted or shot."

Foreign Aid Fund Lumping Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright asked Congress today to make major changes in the Johnson administration's "single package" $3.38-billion foreign aid bill.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called for a separation of military and economic assistance, greater selectivity in countries and projects to be aided, long-range authorizations and a heavy shift from direct U.S. development loans to multilateral lending by international institutions.

But he emphasized he was not criticizing the theory of foreign aid or the size of the administration's request.

In a speech prepared for Sen-serving notice on the administration last October he would refuse to lead the fight in the Senate again for an omnibus measure lumping all direct foreign aid into one omnibus bill.

The administration, after a declaration by Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, that he was "unalterably opposed" to separating the legislation, sent up an omnibus bill. The House unit is in the midst of hearings on it.

Fulbright said he has had "a notable lack of success" over the years in attempts to separate the programs.

"I had hoped that this year the administration might begin," the Arkansas Democrat said. "I still hope that Congress, on its own initiative, will begin the separation of military and economic ingredients of the package and will put substantially more of the development lending program under multilateral management."

Separate Bill Filled

As a starter, Fulbright said he was introducing today as a separate bill one part of President Johnson's $3.38-billion foreign aid request — that dealing with proposed economic aid. It calls for $2.2 billion in appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He said he was not introducing legislation to support the White House request for more than $1.17 billion in military aid because of his objection to "mixing military and economic assistance," and his belief that military assistance should be part of the defense budget.

Later, after the Foreign Relations Committee starts hearings Tuesday on the foreign aid legislation, Fulbright said he will offer other amendments.

Husband Freed In Triple Killing

DETROIT (AP) — A sympathizing judge bestowed freedom Wednesday on locomotive engineer John H. Frazier in the fatal shootings of his wife, her alleged lover and a second man.

Recorder's (Criminal) Judge Vincent J. Brennan, declaring Frazier should be allowed freedom in order to raise his family of four children, limited the sentence to five years probation.

"Your friends and the thousands of persons who have sent me petitions in this case have already passed judgment on you and asked that you be shown leniency," Judge Brennan said. Frazier, 41, permitted to plead guilty to manslaughter, had faced possible life imprisonment on an earlier first degree murder charge.

Police said Frazier shot and killed his wife, Dorothy, 40, when he found her in the embrace of Clarence Z. DePote, 47, on a coach at a radio announcers' school last Sept. 14.

Then, police said, Frazier also shot to death both DePote and Pierre Paulin, 51, former Detroit radio announcer who operated the school. A revolver was the weapon. Frazier was arrested at his home later.

Budget Bills Are Reinstated

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's budget bills-killed by the Senate on a technicality — were to be reintroduced today by Senate floor leaders Republican Garry Brown and Democrat Basil Brown.

Basil Brown agreed to cosign the bills as a gesture of good faith Wednesday during hot debate on the Democrats' claim that the original budget bills had to be killed to facilitate other legislative action.

The new set of bills is identical to the first except for bill numbers and signers. Democrats have promised to consider the governor's budget just as if they had not killed the first bill package.

They said they killed the first set in order to get around a constitutional prohibition against considering new money programs before the governor's budget is accepted or rejected.

Romney and Republicans argued that it is unsound to consider new spending until the existing programs are taken care of.

Nahma People Welcome News Of Town's Rebirth

By MRS. EUGENE HARTMAN
NAHMA—"This makes things look good for Nahma," said Postmaster Roland Brammer about the news that American Playground Device Co. will concentrate its operations here.

Warren P. Miller, president of the firm whose main plant is now at Anderson, Ind., announced Tuesday that Nahma will become the center of operations. The move to Nahma will begin in July.

American Playground Device Co. purchased the town of Nahma and about 4,400 acres of land from the Bay de Nocquet Lumber Co. in 1951. The firm has manufactured some of the wooden parts of its products at Nahma for the past several years. Now the decision has been confirmed to move the whole operation to Nahma.

Postmaster Brammer added that the move "would be a boost for the whole community and have a beneficial effect on business." With more mail volume there is the possibility of better and more frequent mail service.

Many 'Big Smiles'
There were other favorable reactions and comments from people of the community.

Maurice LaVigne, Nahma Township supervisor, called the announcement "good news." The company hopes to employ upwards of 200 people within a couple years. "This will benefit everyone and help to keep our young people in the area," he said.

"We had a lot of big smiles here yesterday," said Joe Sefcik, acting general manager at Nahma for American Playground Device Co. He said employees of the company had been advised of the move at Christmastime. "The announcement makes everyone happy, I'm sure."

"American has been very good to all of us here at Nahma," Sefcik continued. "We all realize the many obstacles that had to be overcome before taking the big step."

Better Service
(At Nahma there were developments necessary before the industry could make decisions on the change: A firm supply of electric power, for one. This now appears assured.)

"Our telephone service is now improved, too," said Sefcik. "Until General Telephone Co. made the improvement Nahma had 14 customers on one party line. Now there are more than 35 customers."

Mrs. Ivan Shafer of Nahma said "We're real happy." She and others in Nahma are pleased because they like the pretty little town, want to continue living there, and realize that jobs are essential for Nahma's future.

Frank Stupak of Gladstone, superintendent of the Nahma Township School, sees brighter future and outlook for the school, as the new development could change the entire school picture and its problems.

Eugene Hartman, president of the Board of Education, expressed the hope that other industries "might follow Mr.

Miller's fine example and bring industries into the Upper Peninsula, thus improving the economic situation."

Make Wood Parts
"Very very nice," said Fr. Joseph Charlevoix, pastor of St. Andrews Church, "and a wonderful break for the people, achieved through the generosity of Mr. Miller."

Many of the Nahma people presently employed by American in its Nahma plant formerly worked for the Bay de Nocquet Lumber Co. They have a background of experience in mill and woods work.

A man like this is Frank Sefcik, plant superintendent at Nahma for American. He ran the mill for the Bay de Nocquet Co. for five and one-half years before American bought the town. Like the others, he is outspoken in his high regard for American's president. "They don't make them any better than Warren P. Miller," said Sefcik.

American's plant at Nahma, improved in preparation for the installation of additional machines, has 31,000 square feet of floor space. In one 10,000 square foot wing will be located the steel working section, an operation new to Nahma.

Presently the Nahma plant is turning out laminated diving boards, merry-go-round sections of wood, lifeguard chairs, nursery swing seats, park bench seats, and teeter-totters. These have been shipped to Anderson for assembly.

Bet Lost, Sails For Australia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last November Robert Ansett told his boss that he had such faith in Republican Barry Goldwater's chance for the presidency that he'd leave the country if he lost.

Early this morning Ansett, his wife, their three children and another couple and their three children sailed aboard the SS Iberia for Australia and a new home.

"My bet just brought the situation to a head faster than it would have been," said Ansett, 31.

"We'd have left sooner or later anyway, with things here the way they are."

Peter Kemmsies, 30, Ansett's neighbor in San Diego and now traveling companion, said they had been thinking about leaving for several months.

"This country has treated us well," said Kemmsies, a construction firm owner. "But we can't live in the past. I have a responsibility to my wife and my kids to make sure that they'll have an opportunity to think for themselves."

"The way the United States is going, government even regulates your personal insurance. There's just no initiative left."

CHIEF TOPIC of conversation at Nahma these days is American Playground Device Co.'s announced move to that community. Talking it over on the steps of the postoffice and store (from left) are Henry Turan of Isabella, Postmaster Roland Brammer, Acting General Manager Joe Sefcik, Mrs. Willard Clement of Kipling, Mrs. James Bennett of Detroit, home on a visit to Nahma; and Mrs. Eugene Hartman of Nahma, correspondent for the Escanaba Daily Press Photo)

Tennis Star, 41, Holdup Suspect

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Tom Falkenburg, once a nationally known tennis player, has been arrested on a charge that he robbed a small Mississippi bank.

He is the brother of Jinx Falkenburg, New York television personality, and Bob Falkenburg, also a noted tennis player.

FBI agents met the tanned, 6-foot-4 socialite as he walked off the ninth green at Shady Oaks County Club Wednesday where he was practicing for a tournament that begins today.

Falkenburg, 41, is accused of being the gunman who, wearing a woolen ski mask, took $4,048 from a woman teller at the Bank of Ridgeland, 10 miles north of Jackson, Feb. 25.

The arrest was made on the basis of a green, 1960 model car used in the robbery, said Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Jackson FBI office.

Sheriff Jack Cauthen of Madison County said state charges also would be filed against Falkenburg, a native of Spain. Falkenburg was charged with violating federal bank robbery statutes. He waived a preliminary hearing and remained in jail in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

Falkenburg moved to Mississippi from Los Angeles in 1949 after marrying Bernice Allred of Hazlehurst, member of a prominent Mississippi family. They have two daughters, 17 and 14.

Third Man Held In Gun Murder Of Malcolm X

NEW YORK (AP) — The Black Muslims have denied anew any guilt for the murder of Malcolm X in the wake of the arrest here of a third Negro accused of the assassination.

But police said the latest defendant, Thomas 15X Johnson, 30, of the Bronx, is a strong-arm member of the Black Muslims. He was charged Wednesday with homicide.

Johnson is the second Black Muslim to be accused in the assassination of Malcolm X, 39, the black nationalist leader who booted from the Black Muslims last year and formed his own sect.

Johnson had been indicted last month for first-degree assault in the wounding last Jan. 6 of Benjamin Brown, a Black Muslim defector. Also charged in that case was Norman 3X Butler, 26, described by police as a Black Muslim "enforcer" and the second man accused in the slaying of Malcolm X.

Police believe five men in all took part in the attack on Malcolm X as he started to speak to 400 persons at a ballroom rally on Feb. 21. He was felled by 13 shots from a shotgun and two pistols.

Birth Control Policy Adopted

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit City Welfare Department is going to make contraceptive pills and birth control devices available to its welfare clients.

The City Welfare Commission adopted the policy Tuesday. The policy supplants a prior policy of a more restrictive nature.

Under the new policy, welfare workers will be permitted to suggest birth control to clients. The clients must declare in writing that they accept such aid voluntarily.

Unwed Mothers Included

Contraceptive pills and birth control devices are to be made available free of charge. Unwed mothers as well as married couples will be included.

The prior policy required welfare clients to initiate birth control discussions with caseworkers. Caseworkers then could refer them to clergymen or physicians. Unwed mothers were not included.

Costs of pills or devices also had to be borne by the clients under the former policy.

The Commission said in a statement it adopted the new policy in the interests of "individual, family and community happiness and security."

"Many serious problems are posed when family size impairs ability to sustain a healthful and socially desirable way of life, when undesirable circumstances may adversely affect the health of the mother and through her the wellbeing of the rest of the family x x x," the commission said.

On Relief Rolls

Detroit has 4,590 persons on its welfare rolls. Approximately 38 per cent are members of families or are widowed mothers or unwed mothers or mothers who are divorced or separated from their husbands, officials said.

In adopting the new policy the commission went against recommendations of the Michigan Catholic Conference, a spokesman for the Roman Catholic Church.

The Catholic Conference had urged that birth control services be limited to married women and that welfare caseworkers be barred from bringing up discussions on the subject with welfare recipients.

Detroit's City Health Department earlier adopted a policy identical with the Welfare Commission's new policy. At that time the Michigan Episcopal Church supported the Health Department's position.

City Welfare Superintendent Daniel J. Ryan said the new policy would be put into practice within two weeks.

Lightning Blamed For First Time In Air Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in the history of American aviation, the government has listed lightning as the probable cause of an airliner crash.

The finding has been announced in a report by the Civil Aeronautics Board on the crash of a Pan American World Airways plane near Elkton, Md., Dec. 8, 1963. Eighty-one persons were killed.

Lightning ignited the mixture of fuel and air in the No. 1 reserve fuel tank at the tip of the left wing of the Boeing 707-121, the board said. The result was an "explosive disintegration of the left outer wing and loss of control."

The Pan American jet was carrying 73 passengers and a crew of eight to Philadelphia from San Juan, Puerto Rico, and had refueled at Baltimore. It was circling over the Delaware area waiting for a squall with extreme winds to clear away.

Students Given Classical Music Beatle Antidote

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An emergency shot of classical music is being given public school students here as an "Antidote for the Beatles."

Donald D. Armstrong, supervisor of music in the schools, said 520 classical record albums have been purchased at a cost of $2,000 to bring "classical selections down to the first grade level" in the city's 52 schools.

"The Beatles," Armstrong said, "have given many kids the idea that only the banjo and the percussions are important. I can't say what the emotional effects of their rhythms will be."

Armstrong said the classical records include selections from such composers as Bizet, Bach, Rimsky-Korsakov and Bartok. He said teacher guides explain the music and its background.

"I believe the children can get as excited over this music as they do over rock 'n' roll," Armstrong said. "We simply need to give them an opportunity to hear it."

State Sells Off Municipal Bonds

LANSING (AP) — Michigan government is rearranging its investments to make more money from the half-billion dollars in retirement funds the state holds.

State Treasurer Sanford Brown has started to sell all the municipal bonds held by the state and hopes he'll eventually be able to build a Michigan mutual fund of common stocks.

Reinvestment will be slow because much money is tied up in long-term securities—but policy and restriction changes could come to mean millions of dollars in added interest, although Brown won't make dollar predictions.

Virtually all the retirement fund monies are now invested in U. S. government securities, government - insured mortgages and municipal bonds.

With increasing contributions the funds are growing by $50 million annually.

The $228 million in mortgages—practically all in million-dollar or bigger projects—is bringing the state roughly a 5.15 per cent return.

But the government and municipal issues are watering down the over-all yield from investments.

Brown started last week to clear the portfolio of municipal bonds when he sold a $5 million package that had been yielding about 4 per cent.

The state made a net profit of $278,000 on the deal since the bonds had been purchased when the market was low in the 1950s. The other $52 million of municipal general obligation and revenue bonds will be sold gradually to avoid flooding the market, Brown said.

Brown hopes the legislature will allow the state to put up to 10 per cent of the retirement funds—just about what is now invested in municipals — into common stocks.

The Edict of Nantes, signed by King Henry IV of France, was first official recognition of religious toleration by a European nation.

Shotgun Slayer Pleads Guilty To Manslaughter

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Accused in the shotgun slaying of William Hart last Sept. 16, Richard James Fase of Lansing pleaded guilty Tuesday to the reduced charge of manslaughter.

Eaton County Prosecutor Wilford Mikesell said he would present a motion to the county circuit court that charges be dropped against Fase's wife, Lillian, also accused in the case.

Mikesell said he had no other alternative, because of the court's previous ruling suppressing confessions and some other evidence.

Judge Archid McDonald suppressed the confessions after hearing testimony on a motion by defense attorney James Burns, who contended his client had not been properly advised of his constitutional rights before making any statements to police.

Newspaper Services

The Escanaba Daily Press is working harder to serve its readers, its advertisers and its service area.

We think that the evidence of the extra labors is apparent in the scope of inquiry in our news columns, in our extra lineage of advertising, in our editorial comment, in our circulation sales efforts, in our general attitude of endeavor.

We have had comments on our increased efforts. Most of them have been complimentary. They recognize the competitive role of the daily newspaper today in an era of mass communications media. They know that if we don't help ourselves no one else will do it for us, and—especially important—they know that the public interest is involved in newspaper excellence in a unique and special manner that doesn't affect radio or television similarly.

Some of the comments have been critical. They seem to suggest, in effect, that we're running too much advertising. This, as we regard it, is sort of like accusing a person of excessive virtue, because we are constantly confronted with the hard economic facts of life. An American daily newspaper must, as a first and chief duty, survive. To do this it must be a financial success.

If it is not profitable, nothing else matters, it will expire and all its services to the public will end. Keeping a daily newspaper profitable takes some doing today. The frequency of mergers of big newspapers and the fact that there are only a few big cities left in America which have more than one newspaper illustrate the difficulties of survival. The New York Times, with its international reputation and its national circulation, makes more money on its Canadian paper mill than it does on its newspaper ads and subscriptions.

Before the mid-1920s the newspapers were THE mass communicators. Then radio came in and later television. Each eventually found its role in American communications and added significantly to its total excellence.

The press operates under authority of the U.S. Constitution, which proclaims that Congress "shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press." Contrast this basic guarantee of free expression with the restrictions imposed upon radio and TV and exemplified (to the point of absurdity) in the "equal time" rules for the electronic media.

The press, because of the forthrightness born of this freedom, publishes in an atmosphere of frankness and serious report and comment. It does not have a character essentially of entertainment like radio and TV. This makes it less popular than they are, more serious and more criticized.

That it must sell its merits strongly in such competition is obvious. That the character of newspapers give their messages an authority and durability not found elsewhere may not be so obvious.

A newspaper is a community's day-to-day record, and it is also its calling card, a daily statement sheet of the city's offerings—commercial, professional, cultural and educational.

A New York Times writer accompanying a tour of the Michigan Association of Industrial Realtors in the Upper Peninsula several years ago said in answer to a question about the factors that make a good community: "I don't know that I know all of them, but I am impressed that I never knew a town that was worth much that didn't have a good newspaper."

The newspaper, while a private business enterprise, is much more than that. It speaks for the community and the community in turn influences what it says. The more the community participates in its support and expression the better the community is served.

CBS Newscaster Walter Cronkite has said that no one can be adequately informed today on the offerings of the electronic media alone. For some kinds of advertising it is very useful and for others it is as useless as a billboard in Patagonia. To each his own and the Press plans to be in there like beavers. The process can only be helpful to our area, stimulating activity and bringing people together in many ventures.

The Doctor Says:

Fainting Can Be Serious

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

In the so-called "gay '90s," young women were subject to "vapor" and would swoon at the sight of blood, or with even less cause. Today their great-granddaughters faint at the sight of the latest popular music stars.

Fainting by persons of any age, however, should be investigated because, although the cause may be trivial, it may also be serious.

All fainting is due to a failure of enough blood to reach the brain. It may follow a prolonged fit of coughing, sudden rising from a recumbent position, prolonged standing in the hot sun (common among soldiers required to stand at attention), heart block, paroxysms of very fast pulse and other abnormal conditions.

In a recent study in France it was found that 65 per cent of persons subject to repeated brief fainting spells had a condition known as spasmodic, in which the motor nerves are abnormally sensitive to various stimuli.

A simple test that requires only about five minutes helps to identify these victims. When Spasmodic is the cause of the fainting, treatment with calcium and vitamin D cures the condition.

When fainting spells occur it is also wise to have the brain waves studied to rule out epilepsy. Your doctor should check the blood for evidence of an abnormally low sugar level.

An electrocardiogram helps to determine whether a disturbance in the mechanism controlling the heart rate is the cause.

In any case, these spells should not be neglected. Even if the cause is believed not serious, the results—a fall or loss of control of an automobile you are driving—make it imperative that the cause be found. This is the first step toward a program of effective treatment.

Q—I have chronic emphysema. My doctor is giving me Medrol and Orthoxine. This medicine has helped my breathing problem, but the side effects are very annoying. I cannot sleep at night and am very nervous. What should I do now?

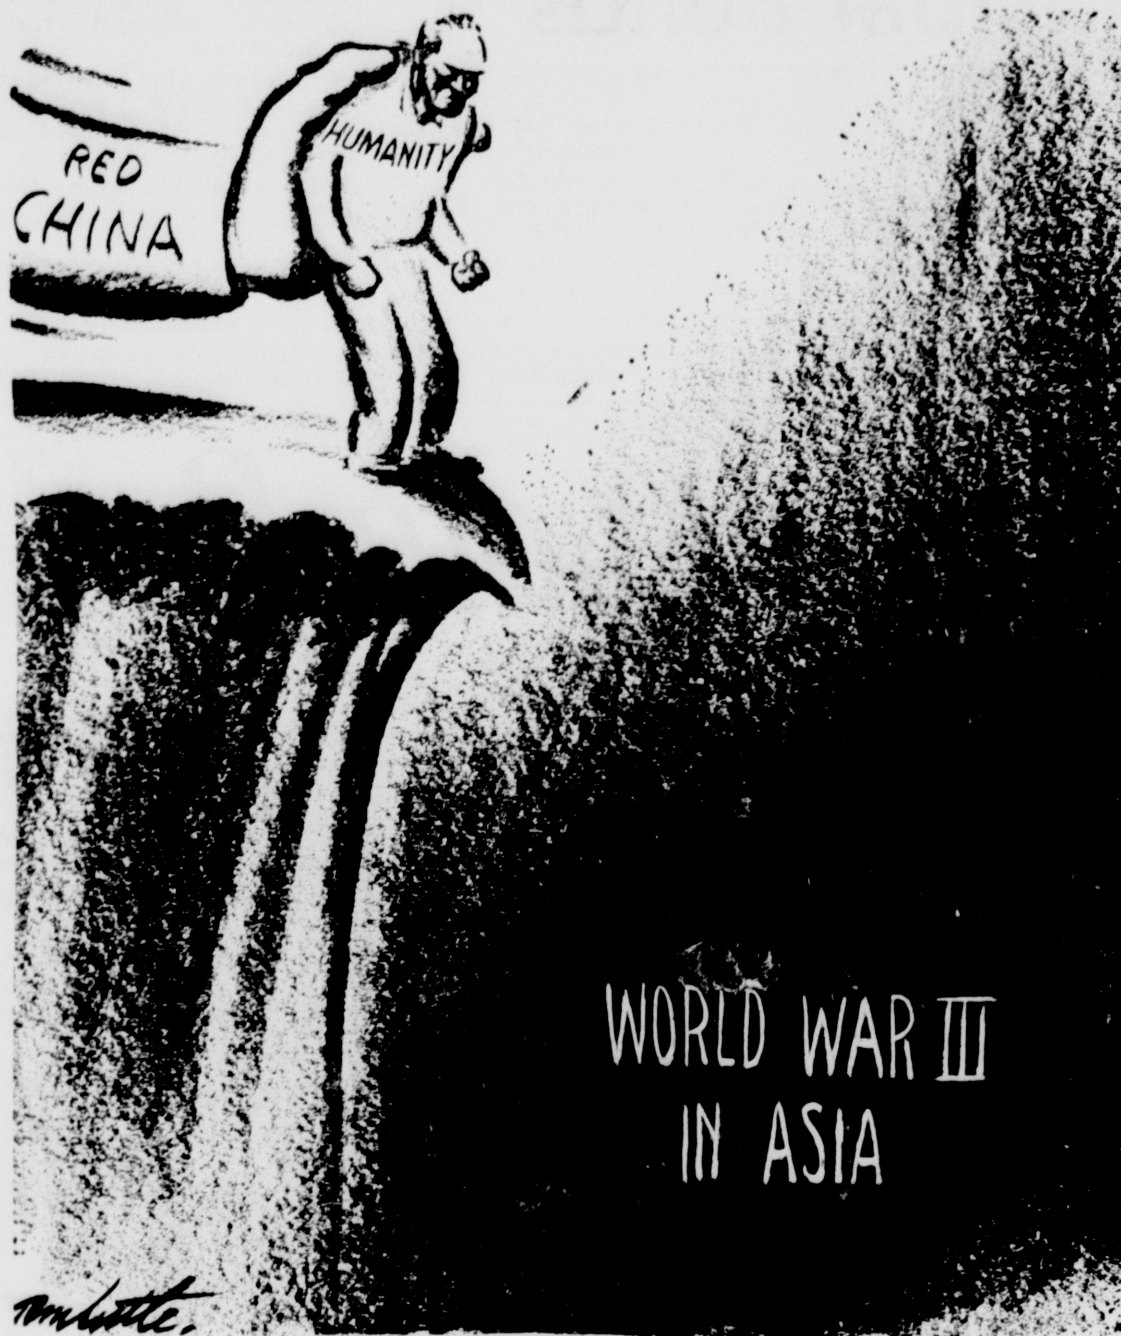

A—Methylprednisolone (Medrol) is one of the corticosteroid drugs used to combat inflammatory conditions.

Methoxyphenamine (Orthoxine) is given to dilate the air passages in your lungs. This is the drug that causes your insomnia and nervous tension.

Consult your doctor about reducing the dose of this drug. After your body becomes accustomed to it, he may be able to increase the dose again, since it is definitely helping your emphysema.

What My Faith Means To Me

St. Francis de Sales Church, Manistique

By JOHN A. MATTHEWS
State Catholic Activity Chairman, Knights of Columbus

The human race has its place in this world far superior to the plant and animal life surrounding it. Our lot is not the brief span according to these plants and animals. As part of humanity we strive for a supernatural end and an eternal life. But we cannot reach this end by our own intellect and power. This end, God, in His infinite goodness, has ordained for us.

To enable us to share in this eternal life, God has given to us—through Moses—the Ten Commandments. These commandments, in essence, demand that we love God and that we love our neighbor.

We can measure up to these commands of "love" in our daily living. We can perform our respective jobs, whatever they may be, with tolerance, justice, and charity toward human love and understanding. We can engage in our social life in like manner without malice or scorn. We can treat all our neighbors with the same charity and brotherly love regardless of race, color, or creed.

By sincere manifestation of this love we will merit the rich rewards of eternal life that far exceed human understanding. For "eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man, what things God has prepared for them that love Him". This is my faith.

Old Friends Missed

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A little-advertised study financed by the National Institute of Mental Health concludes:

"When a working class community is wiped out by a redevelopment project, many of the people who lived there grieve as deeply as they would over the death of a husband or wife. The general sense of loss persists in some cases for at least two years, threatens the emotional health and social functioning of those afflicted and brings an increase in mental illness."

These findings result from interviews in depth with 500 families who used to live in Boston's West End, a "slum area" whose apartments and small businesses were razed to make room for redevelopment.

Close to half the women interviewed and more than a third of the men reported periods of sadness or depression continuing for at least six months.

A fourth of the women said they were still sad or depressed two years after the move. "I felt like my heart was taken out of me."

"I had a nervous breakdown. I lost all the friends I knew."

"I always felt I had to go home to the West End, and even now I feel like crying when I pass by."

The research men found:

"Proponents of urban renewal projects sometimes reason the uprooted people would benefit from slum clearance and forced relocation—in that it would give them an opportunity for advancement (integration into the urban middle-class way of life)."

"For the majority of the families investigated, this assumption has not been borne out by the present study or by similar studies elsewhere. Unlike most residents of middle-class communities, most West Enders . . . enjoyed group life.

"A family's living included not only the family's apartment but also the apartment house hallways and the street. Relatives often lived nearby, frequently in the same building. Friends were all around and people were forever dropping in."

West End residents, said the study, "placed the highest value not on success as measured by income or occupation but on sociability and friendliness."

"The residents of an area like Boston's West End . . . look on it not as a slum . . . but as home." It meets the physical, social and cultural needs "better in most cases than any of the communities to which relocation projects force them to move."

These investigators conclude that slum clearance men must learn that:

• The general standard of housing in an area may not be as important as the human neighborliness in determining whether a community is a desirable place to live.

• When they destroy "slum" buildings they may be destroying a very important, helpful and warm social system as well.

The research men suggest that instead of tearing down slums, it might be better (in some cases anyway) to rehabilitate them in such a way that the present residents can afford to continue living there.

In Your March 1 editorial you mentioned a "trial balloon" on gambling. Your editorial seems to be such a balloon and I would like to help shoot it down.

Legalizing immorality or rationalizing that since it is "commonplace in the world" therefore for the moral issue "has been belted," "or will be so belted if only it can be made more commonplace is an old and immoral ostrich trick in itself. That you, Mr. Editor, should employ this line of reasoning is a great shock to me.

I have already written to Mr. Erlandsen about his alleged quotation about a suggested disposal of proceeds from dog racing. I choose to assume that Mr. Erlandsen will not support legislation legalizing greyhound racing not because he fears being burned, but because he knows the difference between right and wrong, in this case clearly white and black.

Gordon Thorpe

(Editor's note: The Press editorial said: "The moral position is impressive if the Legislature is going to concern itself with ethics, but gambling is such a commonplace in the world that to give it an image of sin is difficult and practically the moral position has been belted by the state's authorization of pari-mutuel betting on horse racing. Are dogs more immoral than horses?")

State Military Setup Studied

LANSING (AP) — A military task force recommended Tuesday that the adjutant general become the commanding general of the Michigan National Guard and the State Military Board be abolished.

The task force headed by Brig. Gen. Howard Arbury was appointed by Gov. George Romney to appraise state military organization in the wake of last October's National Guard land, money and liquor scandal.

The task force said a straight-line organization plan should be implemented to eliminate "the lack of functional structure in the military establishment" and the confusion in authority and responsibility inherent in the current statutes.

It recommended abolition of the office of chief of staff and a breakup of the quartermaster general's department.

The report said the adjutant general logically belongs at the head of the Michigan military establishment because he is a full-time officer who is not outranked by any line officer, is charged by federal regulation with being the sole contact between the state and federal military agencies and can give the governor immediate advice.

"In most states he is the top officer, and current events show that there is no effect to having him subordinate to a part time officer," said the report.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is the type who must have the last word—no matter what it costs him. Well it is now costing him 15 days in jail.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a faithful reader of your column and I'm pleased that you have the courage to tackle certain problems which most people would be inclined to duck. I refer specially to the careless female who ignores the basics of hygiene, such as soap and water, tooth paste, comb and deodorants.

Your suggestion that the most gentle and understanding woman in the office speak to her is unrealistic, however. In our own office, the most gentle and understanding woman told me "I'd rather die." So I accepted the responsibility because I felt a young girl had to be told.

The poor thing heard me out, then broke down and wept. She finally sobbed, "But nobody ever told me."

For three days she avoided me but I noticed that her appearance improved 100 per cent. Others noticed it too, but I never let on that we had had a chat.

Several days later I received two dozen roses. The card read, "Thank you—more than words can express." It was unsigned but I know who had sent the bouquet.—SACRIFICIAL LAMB—

Dear Un: Do yourself up and tell your son the truth. Explain that people who drive cars must follow the rules or pay the penalty—which in this case was a jail sentence.

Make it clear that Daddy did not rob a bank or kill anyone but that he did break a law—and laws must be obeyed if we are to have a world safe for everybody.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son, who will soon be six, plays with some little boys in the neighborhood who are older than he is.

Some of the words he has picked up are not very nice, in fact they are filthy. We are sure he doesn't know what the words mean because he says these words in the presence of guests. Naturally it is very embarrassing to the guests, as well as to us.

It is difficult to conceal shock when he comes up with gutter words, in the presence of the minister, for instance. My husband and I don't know how to deal with the problem and we are enlisting your help. —PARENTS OF LITTLE BOY BLUE

Dear Parents: Your son will continue to use gutter words so long as they have shock value. When children use dirty words—whether guests are present or not—parents should register no shock or horror. Simply say, "We don't talk like that in our family," and change the subject. If the child persists he should be sent to his room.

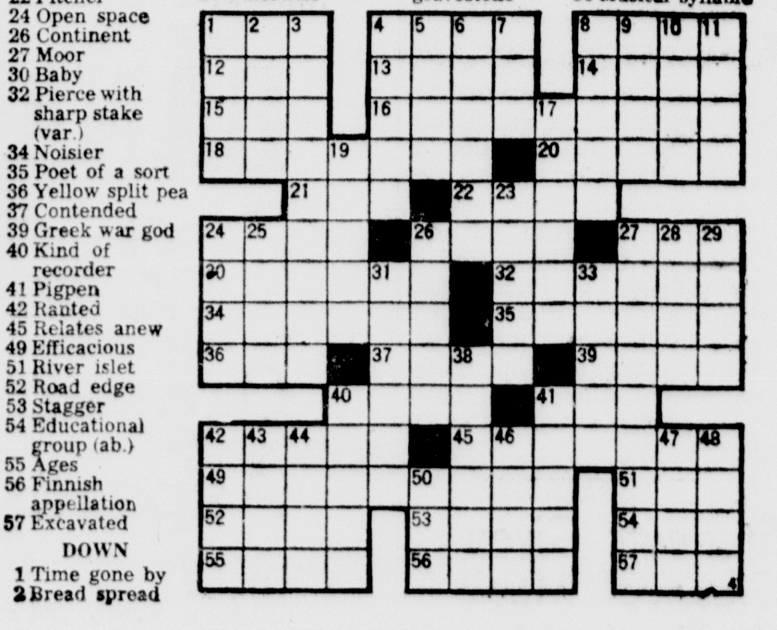

By the time they are 12 most kids have heard all the words, Authority for the past four years.

Labor Shortage In Woods Threat To Factory Jobs

Some of the Upper Peninsula's wood industries think that current government efforts to solve unemployment in the area may push them to the wall. They've already been hurt.

The cedar industry is an example.

While Congressman Raymond Clevenger was announcing today that unemployment in his 11th District was 11.5 per cent compared with 6.9 for Michigan, 6.1 for the U.S. and 7.1 for Appalachia, the Upper Peninsula's cedar industries were faced with such a woods labor shortage that unless something drastic is done in the remaining three weeks of winter cutting season, employment in cedar manufacture industries will be seriously affected this year.

President John Walbridge of American Timber Homes, Inc., said "the cedar companies fear they're going to have a brake put on their operations involuntarily. I know we're going to be short and the whole industry is in the same boat. They're coming up from Lower Michigan plants trying to buy cedar up here to keep going."

Fence Firms Hurt

"I don't mind it so much about the fence business (Walbridge is also head of Early American Fence Co., manufacturers of rustic cedar fencing) because the whole industry is involved, but in Timber Homes we're only getting 10 per cent more sawtimber than last year and we need four times as much."

"We are supposed to be ideally adapted to this area. We use a surplus wood — the Forest Service says only 29 per cent of the cedar growth on the Hiawatha Forest was cut last year — and we're also in an area of labor surplus. Our industry is nicely keyed to this situation."

"We have bet our wad and we are going to be big in this, but we find this labor surplus is actually a short supply. The pulpwood market is strong, relatively, and that works against us because usually the cedar is cut after the pulpwood needs are attended."

1,136 Listed

The Delta-Schoolcraft office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported it had 1,136 persons in its job application file in February. It said these people are "supposedly" seeking work, but it added that it "always" had job openings for piecemakers from Munising, Cornell, Hermansville and other places in this area. The piecemaker is a wood cutter who is paid by the piece. The office said "a good operator can make $20 a day in good timber, but not all the timber is good."

Wood industry managers and planners in the Upper Peninsula have cited that the current government efforts to train the unemployed in the Upper Peninsula are aimed chiefly at the creation of skills in mechanics and welding, which are sought more outside the U.P. than in it.

Efficiency Needed

The need for creation of more efficiency in wood production has been cited as a need of wood industry, as U.P. harvest costs are more than those in the South, but nothing has been done in this line. Michigan Tech has conducted some schools for sawyers, timber graders and other skilled sawmill men, but the cutter hasn't gone to school yet.

Because mining industry is better paid than wood industry it tends to draw off labor from wood industry. Employment service officers say there are not many interested in "that kind of work" (cutting timber) and so there is a serious shortage of woods labor in the Upper Peninsula today while the government stresses unemployment figures.

"There is a growing concern that we must use the tools of the federal government," says Congressman Clevenger "to give assistance to those areas of the United States which have been by-passed by national prosperity."

U.P. wood industry may have a new fear: That government make-work will shorten up the woods labor supply even more.

Hermansville NAMED TO BOARD

John (Johnny) St. Juliana, Hermansville businessman has been appointed to the Meyer Township School Board succeeding Mrs. Clifford LaBombe who resigned to accept the position of clerk on the Township Board. St. Juliana was appointed at a meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday afternoon in the Community Club.

U.P. Escapees Still At Large

Two trustees from the Michigan Department of Corrections' conservation prison camp in the Porcupine Mountains, Ontonagon County, who escaped Tuesday night were reported still at large this morning.

State Police of the Gladstone Post said the two men escaped in a 1964 Chevrolet dark blue pickup truck which was stolen from a camp officer.

The men are Robert E. McLain, 43, serving a two to four year term for felonious assault, and William L. Lincoln, 28, serving concurrent terms of 5 to 15 years for burglary and 1 1/2 to 15 years for unarmed robbery.

Officers at the Gladstone Post said McLain, who was sentenced in Bay County, lived in the Escanaba area with his parents about 20 years ago. He is 5-feet-8, weighs 166 pounds, is of stocky build and has blue eyes, brown hair and a ruddy complexion.

Lincoln, who was sentenced in 1959 in Genesee County on a burglary count and from Saginaw County on a robbery charge, is described as being 6-foot-1, weighing 170 pounds with a medium build, brown eyes, dark brown hair and a ruddy complexion.

State Police today were checking a report that the 1964-model pickup truck was seen in the Ironwood area.

Anyone seeing the fugitives or the truck is asked to call State Police at GA5-2711.

Release Schedule For Skin Testing In Area Schools

The schedule for tuberculosis and histoplasmin skin testing in Delta County schools next week was released today by the Delta-Menominee District Health Dept.

Only students in grades 9-12 are given histoplasmin tests.

Health Dept. officials will administer tests at Escanaba Area junior high school Monday morning, at St. Thomas school Monday afternoon and will spend all day Tuesday at Escanaba Area high school. Tests will also be given Friday morning at the J. F. Kennedy School for retarded children.

Tests will be read at the junior high Thursday morning, at St. Thomas School Thursday afternoon and at the high school Friday.

City Skating Rinks Closed

City skating rinks were officially closed this week after 61 days of operation beginning on Christmas Day, it was announced by the Recreation Department this morning. Ice conditions this year ranged from fair to generally good during January and February.

The Annual Grade School Playday was run off on Saturday, Feb. 20, and ideal weather attracted a record number of participants. Webster School again won the championship and the Lemmer School finished in the runnerup position.

The Junior Hockey Program, under the direction of George Petaja, closed a successful season with their annual playoffs during the last week of February. In addition to entertaining several out-of-town teams, trips to Eagle River, Newberry and Marquette afforded the youthful pucksters an opportunity to gain valuable experience against stiff competition.

The Pee Wees travel to Marquette this Sunday afternoon to meet the Marquette Pee Wees, coached by Bob Brumm, in the final game of the season.

The speedskating program, under the direction of Jeannie LeCaptain, made a modest start and served a limited number of youngsters who were interested in receiving instructions and working out twice a week at Royce Park. Plans are being considered to expand the program next year.

Paul Huff served as supervisor of the Royce Park rink for the 16th year and he was assisted by Ray Cossette. Rurick Carlson was in charge of the Webster rink and Art Gravel kept the hockey rink near the water tower in tip-top condition when the weather permitted. Mike Derkos operated the sweeper and handled flooding chores at the Ogden rink and the neighborhood rink at the Babe Ruth Field on South 14th street.

Library Audience Told . . .

Negro Writing Leads Protests

Dr. Marvin Felheim, professor of English at the University of Michigan, told a lecture audience at Carnegie Public Library Wednesday night that with Hemingway and Faulkner dead, with Steinbeck and Dos Passos having given up fiction and with John O'Hara the only major survivor of that generation of writers, the American literary scene today is without giants.

Variety, he said, is the strong characteristic of current American fiction writing. When Hemingway and Faulkner were leading the pack, what was going to come from the presses could always be predicted, but this is no longer true. The new young writers exercise great variety from writer to writer and even from book to book.

The Negro writers lead in protest fiction today. They are the most protesting minority group.

The new writers are more skillful than the old ones, said Felheim, just as the students are brighter than they were a generation ago, and much harder workers. The new writers have many problems, and they lack agreement about a scale of values, said Felheim.

"You may say that they say nothing, but they are saying it magnificently. It's usefulness and purpose aren't clear and it may not last, but we are getting change and technically proficient writers."

The most prominent minority group in Michigan, said Felheim, is the Polish. A quarter century ago most of them who went to the University of Michigan from Hamtramck, the Polish enclave in Detroit, tried to get away from their Polish ancestry. They changed their Polish names and didn't admit that they spoke another language besides English. Today it's quite different. The Poles and Jews, the Yugoslavs and other minority groups want to get university credit for knowing a second language.

From having been a bit declassé, a Polish background has become something to talk about and use as a distinction in a nation of conformists, so grandama is exploited and asked to dance the kazotsky. This outlook is not new, said Felheim, there have always been Yiddish newspapers in the big cities, but the accent is new.

"Now if you don't know a few words of Yiddish you can't enjoy TV. We've exploited the cult of the minority," said Felheim.

The Negro writer is the most provocative today, said Felheim, his people the most deprived and making the greatest effort to be part of American democracy. The Jewish novel is no longer one of protest. There is no longer discrimination against the Jews in America. In a sense that is

Cities Set For Mayor's Trade

LANSING (AP) — Here are pairings for the annual exchange of mayors and village presidents May 17 during Michigan Week, as announced by the Greater Michigan Foundation.

Several of the cities, such as Detroit and Lansing, arranged their own swaps without going through the drawings.

Escanaba is paired with Monroe, a city of 22,903 on the shore of Lake Erie between Detroit and Toledo. Escanaba annually participates in the mayor's exchange.

Gladstone's partner for mayor's exchange is New Buffalo, which has a population of 2,128 and is located near the Indiana line on Lake Michigan's south end.

Other pairings for Upper Peninsula cities include:

Crystal Falls - Roseville, Newberry - Lapeer, Daggett - Omer, Baraga - Ontsted, St. Ignace - Perry, Iron Mountain - New Lathrop, Hancock-Ham-

Pollution Seen As Fish Menace

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal official said today the pollution of the southern end of Lake Michigan "may render the water a barren wasteland to fish."

Harold C. Jordahl Jr. of Madison, Wis., regional coordinator for the U.S. Department of the Interior, issued the warning at a conference called by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

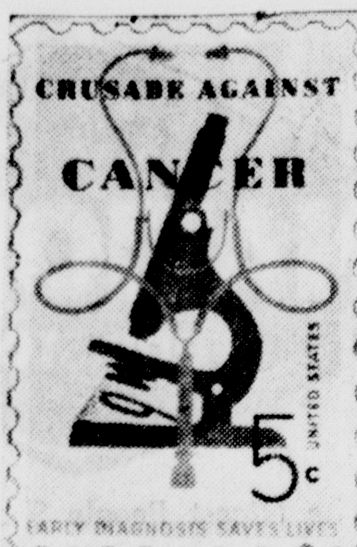

"The choicer fishes are being replaced by less valuable species which have a greater tolerance for turbidity and low oxygen," he told officials of Indiana and Illinois.

"The gradual accumulation of wastes day after day may render the water a barren wasteland to fish," he said.

"If the trend continues," he added, "millions of people within this area will be left without a place to swim on the southern end of this great lake."

He said statistics already indicate a great decline in the commercial harvest of fish.

James W. Jardine, Chicago's water commissioner, termed conditions dangerous and called for "complete and permanent protection."

QUICK REMINDER — April is Crusade Against Cancer Month. Postmaster General John A. Gronouski hopes that this commemorative stamp will remind Americans that an early medical checkup often can bring the disease under control.

Old Superstitions Never Die; Many Keep Growing

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Old superstitions, like old generals, never die. Neither do they fade away. Fact is they keep on multiplying and today some of the newest superstitions we have are older than civilization itself.

Scientific thinking helps destroy superstitious belief. But some of these notions are so odd and amusing and harmless that it would be unfortunate to stop knocking on wood, crossing fingers, and refusing to walk beneath a ladder.

Superstitious customs come from ancient times. Sometimes we cling to them we know not why. "I'm not superstitious," said one man as he tossed spilled salt over his left shoulder. "Just careful."

The business of left hand (bad) right hand (good) is buried deep within man's past experience. Use of the right hand is normal for most persons. Use of the left hand was once forbidden. Left of center: A radical, a leftist. Literal meaning of the word left is sinister.

"Gesundheit!" Yet there's a little bit of good in every old superstition. Left has powers of magic—the left hind foot of a rabbit will bring good luck, see the new moon over the left shoulder and have good fortune.

There are many good luck charms to ward off evil and among the more recent (as man's history is figured) is the horseshoe. Hang a horseshoe with the prongs up and you'll have good luck. If they hang down "the luck will fall out."

When Italians sneeze they say "felicità"—a blessing or good luck; Germans say "gesundheit"—your health; and English speaking people often remark "God bless you"—perhaps a custom they no longer recognize as designed to protect the sneezer against the loss of a part of his "spirit" by such violent exhalation.

There is no charm without a counter-charm. To spill salt summons the devil; to toss spilled salt over the left shoulder keeps him at a distance. Sometimes housewives in spilling the salt say "There will be a quarrel."

Lucky Numbers

If you take a second slice of bread on your plate before eating the first, someone's coming hungry. An itching palm will bring you money. Bubbles in a teacup will bring visitors.

A blister on the tongue means you have told a lie. So also does a white spot on the finger nail. If your ears burn, someone is talking about you.

Some numbers are lucky and others are unlucky. Three, seven and 11 are considered "good luck" numbers—but if you break a mirror you will have seven years' bad luck. There is favorable magic in threes — Three Graces, Holy Trinity, three cheers. But what about "going down the third time?" Superstition is never logical.

Load Of Hay

The number 13 is at the top of the "bad luck" list and is so potent that the number is not used for stairways on ships or rooms in hotels. Guests are likely to refuse to accept Room 13. When 13 is coupled with Friday it's double trouble.

There are many superstitions associated with the farm and the out-of-doors: "Load of hay, load of hay, make a wish and turn away." Wish on a white horse. Find a four leaf clover and have good luck. If the cows are standing in the pasture it will not rain. "Rain before seven shine before 11." (There's that old seven come 11 again!) And fishermen spit on the hook for luck before dropping it in the water.

Indoors it will bring bad luck to open an umbrella. Sometimes there's a degree of common sense involved. Opening an umbrella in the house could poke someone in the eye—and that's bad luck, of course.

Sailor's Whistle

Children have their own brand of superstition associated with play: Step on a crack in the sidewalk and "break your mother's back." Handling toads will cause warts. But warts can be removed by rubbing them with a pebble and then throwing the pebble over your left shoulder.

Sailors have accumulated more than their share of superstition associated with the sea. To whistle aboard ship can result in a gale of wind. But if you're becalmed a gentle whistle is permissible—and whistling in the direction from which you want the wind to come will be helpful. Another way to bring favorable winds is to stick a jackknife into the mast.

The tradition of breaking a bottle of champagne on the bow of a ship before it is launched is really an old one: Phoenicians spilled wine on the bow in ceremonies as early as 2100 B.C.

The cause underlying some superstitions customs is hard to find. Sailors, however, believe you should never spit against the wind—and the reason is obvious.

Garden Peninsula

Fellowship

The Women's Fellowship of the Fayette Congregational Church met at the parish hall with Mrs. Eugene Swanson as hostess. Devotions were led by Mrs. Howard Gierke. The business meeting conducted by Mrs. Orville Farley led to definite plans for the annual spring rummage sale and bake sale. Saturday, May 1, is the date scheduled for the event.

Kates Bay Club

Mrs. Bernard Grenier was hostess to the Kates Bay Home Economics Club. An article "Know your Deodorants" was read by Mrs. Grover Spaulding. Proceeds from an auction sale increased the club's treasury. Mrs. Grace LaBute was a guest for the evening. The next meeting March 10 will be held at the home of Mrs. Hartley LaBute.

SNOW SHOW—This huge statue of Buddha, made entirely of snow and finished to the smallest detail, was the main attraction at the annual snow festival in Sapporo City, capital of Japan's northernmost island of Hokkaido.

Police Replace Stolen Bicycle

DETROIT (AP) — Timothy Simon got another bicycle Wednesday and great was his joy.

Furthermore, the police department's honor was upheld.

Timothy, 12, bought a red bike for $4 from his $10 in snow shoveling money at the police auction of unclaimed bikes Tuesday.

A thief then stole his bicycle.

All this took place in the gymnasium of police headquarters, site of the auction.

Timothy had parked the red bike at the rear of the gymnasium while he returned to the auction and successfully bid $2 for a bicycle for his sister, Kyle, 9.

The embarrassed department promised the broken-hearted youngster he'd be made whole for his loss.

Called back to headquarters, Timothy was presented with another bicycle—even fancier than the original.

It has white sidewall tires, chrome fenders, a carrier rack on the back and a headlight.

Patrolmen William Herbster and Joe Brown had come to duty early and made the bike from parts in the police property room.

Timothy lovingly stroked the handsome chrome.

"Wow," he said. "Boy, am I happy. I'm just as happy as I can be."

Timothy's rapture more than made up for the reprimand he received at school.

He said he had skipped school to go to the auction and his principal "chewed me out."

"But I'm not mad at her. I'm happy, happy, boy, am I happy," he said.

Reindeer Stop Lapland Trains

By DICK SODERLUND
GAELIVARE, Swedish Lapland (AP) — The most used tool aboard Swedish Lapland trains at this time of year is an ax—not for chopping wood but for killing run-over reindeer.

The bloody business has gotten so out of hand that engineers on the Lapland Iron Ore Railroad are asking shorter working hours. They say they need rest from runs along the "death lines" during which they have to work as butchers, killing maimed reindeer.

A spokesman for the trainmen, engineer Knut Appelqvist, said recently:

"We cannot stand it anymore. We look like bloody butchers when we come back from the line. The ore line and the inland line at this time of year are nothing but large butchering places with bloody reindeer carcasses strewn along the tracks."

Owners Get Paid
"Many of the engine drivers here show mental disturbances every winter and early spring. This problem must be solved somehow."

Everyone agrees that the problem of the reindeer massacres has become one of the chief difficulties facing the Swedish north where, as elsewhere in Lapland, huge herds of the domesticated, short-tailed, brown and white reindeer are kept. Normally antlered animals, the American species of which is called caribou, the reindeer lose their antlers before spring.

Last year 3,694 animals were killed by trains. The state railroads paid out close to $60,000 in indemnities to Lapp reindeer owners. The per-head compensation is about half of what a Laplander gets if a beast of prey kills one of his reindeer.

Watchmen along the rail lines spend most of their time in the winter cutting off the branded ears of dead reindeer so that the owners will be paid.

Passengers Faint
In scenes reminiscent of the American old West when herds of buffalo held up the iron horse, some reindeer are run over practically every train trip.

The trains roll along at about 55 m.p.h. The slaughter usually starts when an engineer is suddenly confronted with reindeer moving along the track. He brakes the train but because of snow alongside the tracks the clumsy, frightened reindeer cannot get clear.

The railways have issued a special leaflet of instructions in how to kill an injured reindeer.

As for the Lapp reindeer owners, they say the trains should go slower. Railway authorities say this would result in schedule-disrupting delays.

Passengers aboard the trains often assail the engineers for having run over the reindeer, some passengers fainting dead away at the bloody sight.

Quito, Ecuador, has a 281-mile stretch of railroad that takes 40 hours to cover because of loops, zigzags and switchbacks.

Nigerian Kidney Transplant OK At Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP) — "I think," said Abraham Adedire, recalling the chain of events that brought him a new kidney from his native Nigeria, "I will be well."

"It helps to have the belief in God that miracles can happen," the 26-year-old chemistry student said from his bed in the University of Michigan hospital. Adedire, whose potentially fatal kidney malfunction was apparently checked by the transplant of one of his mother's kidneys, was in good condition, doctors said.

He's feeling well enough to talk with his mother, Mrs. Asabi Adedire, whose room is right across the hall.

Mrs. Adedire was flown here from her life, Nigeria, home for the Feb. 15 transplant after tests showed she would be a satisfactory donor. Her daughter, Janet, 22, came along as an interpreter.

Garden Peninsula Birthday Party

St. Nicholas Couple Marks Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heynsens, widely known residents of St. Nicholas, observed their golden wedding Feb. 27, with members of their family and a large gathering of relatives and friends.

A High Mass of Thanksgiving was celebrated at St. Joseph's Church in Perkins, followed by a family dinner at Jack's in Rapid River and an open house at the Heynsens home.

The buffet table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake and a golden money tree, gift of their children, flanked by arrangements of gold and white flowers.

Ten of the eleven children born to Mr. and Mrs. Heynsens were with them for the happy occasion.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Prosper Heynsens, Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ott of Skokie, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Wyn Corbin, Des Plaines, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Ben Solis, Prospect Heights, Ill., Mrs. Louise DeBaker, Bucyrus, Ohio, and Mrs. Clara McGuirk, Denver, Colo., and many residents of neighboring communities.

Paula Gardipee Sorority Pledge

Paula Gardipee, freshman at St. Norbert's College, West De Pere, Wis., has been pledged to Delta Zeta sorority. At the pledging ceremonies she received a recognition pin for being voted the "most active pledge" by the Chapter. Paula is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gardipee, 1311 1st Ave. S., and is a graduate of Holy Name High School.

"Think Spring" is the theme of the Escanaba Welcome Wagon Newcomer's Club Fashion Show which is busily being coordinated by its committees and many merchants of Escanaba.

Fillet Of Sole Is Styled For Dieters

During Lent many of us give up little luxuries and extras as part of the tradition of sacrificing something we like. Lent is also an idea time for going on a diet. You can accomplish two purposes: giving up the fattening, rich foods you enjoy and losing weight to look nice in your spring clothes.

Despite the widely publicized crash diets, eating well-balanced, varied meals and counting calories is still the best way to lose weight. Nutritionists emphasize the importance of making sure you eat the proper amounts of vitamins, minerals and proteins every day.

For Lenten suppers or for meals at any other time of year, fish is perfect as a dieter's main dish. It's quite low in calories, high in the necessary proteins. One serving, a 3 1/2-ounce cooked portion, of most lean types of fish is only about 200 calories.

Dress It Up
Fish can be dressed up in many delightful styles, too. For instance, Fillet of Sole with Mushrooms is a main entrée that makes dieting a pleasure. Your whole family, non-dieters included, will enjoy it.

The fillets are simply baked with low-calorie lemon juice and sliced mushrooms. A hint of dry mustard and chopped parsley adds to the flavor. The entire cooks in the oven for just 20 or 25 minutes and it's ready for the table. Frozen fillet of sole, canned mushrooms and bottled lemon juice make the preparation especially easy.

Remember to keep a bottle of lemon juice handy in your refrigerator for other diet dishes. One tablespoon contains only 4 calories. Use it instead of dressing on salads, or as a nice flavor addition to other Lenten fish servings.

Fillet of Sole With Mushrooms
1 pound frozen fillet of sole, thawed

1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, or 1/4 pound fresh mushrooms
3 tablespoons ReaLemon bottled lemon juice
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Dry fillet of sole with paper toweling. Place fillets in greased 2 1/2-quart shallow baking dish. If using fresh mushrooms, slice lengthwise and lightly brown in a small amount of butter. Top fillets with mushrooms. Mix bottled lemon juice, water, parsley, dry mustard, salt and pepper. Pour over fillets and mushrooms. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or until fish flakes. 4 servings.

Note: Other lean fish fillets may be substituted for sole; such as halibut, haddock and cod.

Those from out-of-town attending the funeral of Harry J. Skinner at the Beaulieu Funeral Home were Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner, Jean Ann Skinner, Kalamazoo, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Purdy, John Wood, Manistique.

Mrs. Clyde Harkness accompanied Mr. and Mrs. David Bryers and family of the Soo to Ontonagon where Sam and Mike Bryers participated in a hockey tournament.

Dennis Williams left Sunday for Lapeer where he is employed at the Training School connected with the State Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carley Williams and family of Germfask visited on Saturday with his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLaren and boys visited their daughter, Mrs. Ken Johnson and family Sunday at Deer Park. Mrs. Bessie Rickard visited with her granddaughter, Mrs. Delbert Musgrave and family for the day.

Mrs. Audrey Sanborn and Crawford visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Harkness at Lakefield.

Mrs. Jay M. Tanner is a patient at the Munson Hospital in Traverse City. Mr. Tanner has arrived home after accompanying his wife there.

Thaw a frozen quick bread in its original package at room temperature, or unwrap the bread and let it warm in a moderate oven. A quick bread will keep in the freezer for as long as three months.

Sunday Night Supper Is Easy To Prepare

It's Sunday night and you have come to the end of a busy weekend, so let's make it an easy supper. A fluffy omelet filled with your favorite jelly along with buttered whole wheat toast is a delightful change and so good.

For dessert, serve delicious strawberry or chocolate parfait cake—the frozen kind you buy ready-to-serve.

Sunday Night Omelet

2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cup milk or light cream
1 tablespoon butter
4 egg whites
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup jelly (your favorite)

Combine the tapioca, salt, pepper, and milk or light cream in a saucepan. Place over medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Add 1 tablespoon butter. Remove from heat and allow to cool slightly.

Meanwhile, beat egg whites until they form stiff peaks. Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Gradually add the tapioca mixture to the egg yolks and mix well. Fold into egg whites.

In skillet, melt 2 tablespoons butter. Then pour the omelet into the skillet. Cook over low heat 3 minutes. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer. When a knife inserted in center of omelet comes out clean, omelet is cooked.

Cut across at right angles to handle of pan, being careful not to cut all the way through. Spoon jelly on half of omelet. Fold other half of omelet carefully from handle to opposite side and serve on hot platter. Makes 4 servings.

CARVING TIPS

Meat carving can be simple if you remember some basic principles.

The first requisite of good carving is a sharp knife. Don't use the carving knife for kitchen chores. When not in use, keep the carving set in its own box.

Try to have the roast out of the oven fifteen minutes before it goes to the table. This gives the meat time to "firm" and makes carving easier.

Don't crowd the platter with too much garnishment. The carver needs room to work.

Remember that meat is carved across, not with the grain. Slices should be uniform in thickness. Long, steady strokes of the knife produce smooth slices.

St. Ann Society Holds Meeting, Birthday Social

POWERS — St. Ann Society of St. Francis Xavier parish met at the parish hall Monday evening. New music and hymns were practiced under the direction of Mrs. Wilfred Fleetwood. Mrs. Wallace Wells accompanied on the piano. After much discussion it was decided that the Little Flower Circle remain an independent circle.

Miss Loleta Sanford led a panel on leaflet lessons on Liturgy. Mrs. Elizabeth Shannon spoke on active participation and Mrs. Clifford Liegeois spoke on who does what in the Mass.

A large birthday cake in the form of a cross and two lighted candles made of cake was furnished by the society to help celebrate Father Walter Franczek's birthday. A delicious lunch was prepared by the St. Mary Circle, with Mrs. Walter Piche as chairman. This circle is responsible for the cleaning of the church during the month of March.

Holy Name

The Holy Name Society held their regularly monthly meeting Monday evening. They are planning their third card party in the last of a series, for March 28. Mr. Napoleon Beters, Mr. Joseph Grondine and Mr. Gene Marcantonio are on the committee. They also discussed plans for a spaghetti dinner for Sunday, April 25.

After their business meeting, the society joined the St. Ann ladies for the lunch and birthday celebration of Father Franczek.

Lions Meeting

Powers-Spalding Lions Club met at the Big R Cafe Monday evening for dinner. Robert Charland who served as entertainment chairman introduced the guest speaker, Arthur Slater, who works out of Escanaba with the Michigan Conservation Geological Survey Department. He gave an interesting talk on the underground rock formations and what they contain. The Lions made a motion to sponsor one boy to Boys State each year.

4-H Club

A meeting of the Powers-Spalding Handy Helpers 4-H Club was held at the home of Mrs. Earl Kell. The girls made brownies, egg salad and tuna fish sandwiches. They are planning a luncheon for their parents and grandparents and County 4-H agent, Lester Walcutt. This will be held at the Legion Club rooms Sunday, March 21.

Jigtime Main Dish

QUICK AND THRIFTY — Franks and kraut cooked together with canned tomatoes, onion, green pepper, celery and other taste-teasers.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Because we've known for years what a delicious quick skillet dish can be made from a can of sauerkraut and a package of frankfurters, we forget that new cooks may not have come upon this jigtime offering.

We now pass along an interesting version of the combination because recently a busy young mother — a noontime taster at our house one day — asked us how we put it together.

Here, then, is an especially well seasoned version of franks and kraut. Small boiled new potatoes doused with butter and minced fresh parsley or dill will make a fine addition to the menu. For dessert, fruit and cheese, fruit turnovers (from the freezer) or cookies.

Skillet Sauerkraut And Frankfurters

1 pound frankfurters
2 tablespoons salad oil
1/2 cup thin strips onion
1/2 cup thin strips green pepper
1 cup thin diagonal slices celery

1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, undrained
1 can (1 pound) sauerkraut, drained
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon oregano leaves
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons light brown sugar — packed down
1 beef bouillon cube

Diagonally slice each frankfurter into 4 chunks. In a 10-inch skillet heat the oil; add the frankfurters and quickly brown; push to one side of skillet. Add the onion, green pepper and celery; cook gently for several minutes. Add tomatoes, sauerkraut, salt, pepper, oregano, bay leaf, brown sugar and bouillon cube; stir to dissolve cube and mix ingredients. Simmer for about 10 minutes. Serve with pan juices over rice or noodles. Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: If you open a larger can of sauerkraut than the one called for, or use bulk kraut, you'll need 2 cups, drained.

ENSIGN

Lions Honor Rev. I. L. Levin

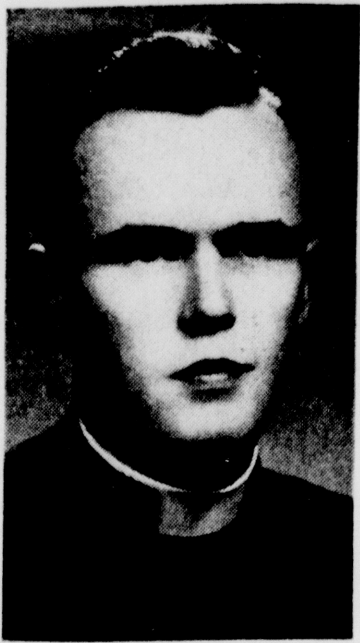

The Rev. Ingmar L. Levin, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, was named "Citizen of the Year" Tuesday night by the Manistique Lions Club and was presented the plaque in ceremonies at the Liberty Cafe.

Rev. Levin has served as president of the Manistique Ministerial Assn. for three terms, was delegate to the Flint community school workshop in 1963, was chairman of the citizens planning committee for the sex education programs in junior and senior high school, and is a member of the county committee on the Northern Michigan University high school dropout project, the county committee studying the program for a training school at Blaney Park, and county committee for Bay Cliff health camp.

He has been associated with the Scouting program, particularly Troop 402 and Cub Pack 40, the past five years. He serves as the Pro Deo et Patria award counselor, merit badge counselor and board of review member. He has been pastor of Zion Lutheran Church five years.

Past recipients of the award were guests for the presentation. The program included a slide presentation by Msgr. F. M. Scherlinger of St. Francis de Sales Church on his trip to Europe, which included Yugoslavia, home of Bishop Baraga, whose Canonization is sought, and Rome.

Beaver Island Getting More Docking Space

Information received by Ted J. Hentschell from Beaver Island indicates that its popularity will lead to construction of additional dock space by the Michigan Waterways Commission. The project will increase by 50 per cent present space available.

The island, once a Mormon establishment, has remains from this period still visible and a trip to its offers this plus an interesting Great Lakes panorama crossing shipping lanes and passing several islands. Good fishing is available near them.

A local corporation to promote an excursion trip from Manistique is being urged.

A fish tug converted to a sight-seeing boat or a regular sight-seeing vessel would be needed.

No Upper Peninsula-based boats are available at present to reach the island. Local yachtsmen and a Boy Scout troop have made the trip and found it exciting. Camping is possible, and this could be used with a guide for groups which could be left for overnight camp trips on the islands.

The Beaver Island Boat Co. offers service from the Lower Peninsula, at Charlevoix. It lists the island as "America's Emerald Isle." Fares are $3 one-way, adult, and $1.50 for children. The round trip was $5.50 and for those taking cars on the motor ship, $10.00. It operates April 16 through December, with trips every other day in the off-tourist period and increasing to two per day in late June, July, August and early September.

Win Honors

Music students of Manistique High School participated in the solo and ensemble festival in Marquette on the weekend and Susan Carlson won a first place or superior rating for vocal solo. Manistique also had its Octette, consisting of Marilyn Pitts, Paula Rosebush, Susan Carlson, Betty Nelson, Debra Cockram, Margo LeBrasseur, Sally Popour and Maxine Zook participating. It received a Division II rating, as did a vocal solo by Marilyn Pitts and a trumpet performance by Susan Orhanen.

Briefly Told

Using Schoolcraft County airport and radio facilities in February were 21 air flights, including two ambulance cases.

The meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary has been cancelled this month. The next is in April.

National Merit Scholarship tests will be given to juniors at Manistique High School Tuesday, March 9. Carl Olson will administer the tests.

The Sportsmen's Club members will hold a card party March 13 at 8 p.m., at the clubhouse. They will bring sandwiches or cookies.

The American Legion Auxiliary meets Monday, March 8 at 8 p.m., in the Youth Center. Potluck lunch will be served and a white elephant sale conducted. Coffee, cream and sugar will be furnished. Members should bring table service.

Earl Bellows, West Shore Drive was taken by ambulance to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. Mrs. Jeanette Charrier was taken to the hospital Tuesday and returned to her home at 8:35 p.m.

Ted J. Hentschell has left for Chicago where he will captain the U.P. Tourist Assn. booth at the National Boat and Travel Show in McCormick Place. Other U.P. representatives, including Ken Dorman, director of the Association also will be there.

The Order of Eastern Star meets Saturday, March 6, at 8:15 p.m., and will observe men's night. Men will substitute for some of the women officers and will serve refreshments. On the committee are G. L. Bouschor, Orson Livermore, Victor Haas, Graydon Stone and James Carlson.

The United States government purchased its first airplane on July 30, 1909.

Scouts Going To Council Derby Saturday

A patrol of Boy Scout Troop 400 will be in Houghton this weekend for the Hiawathaland Boy Scout Klondike Derby. The team placed third in the district meet at Gladstone.

Going will be Greg Lambert, patrol leader, Ron Cournaya, Jerry Weber, Tony Ebli, Greg Weber, Larry Nelson and David Gauthier. Adult leaders accompanying them will be Ken Gillingham, Scoutmaster, Joseph Bosanic, assistant and Cliff Lambert.

Contributions were received from Norman Jahn, Bill Males, Manistique Oil Co. and Fred Hahne to help defray trip expenses. Some funds are being provided by troop members and the troop.

Assistant Gets Indiana Post

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Lou Watson, who has been part of Indiana University basketball 16 of the last 19 years, will take on the rugged assignment of succeeding head coach Branch McCracken and rebuilding the Hoosiers.

Watson knew exactly what he faced when he accepted the job Wednesday, effective at the end of the current season. He has been McCracken's assistant since 1958.

"I'll lose the seven top boys from this year, and it's going to be rough," Watson said. "And recruiting is getting tougher all the time."

He'll have help from his boss, who is retiring after 24 years on the job but will stay at the university as a professor of physical education.

Watson signed a three-year contract and announced that Don Luft will move up from freshman coach to be his assistant.

Player Joins Pro Golf Tour

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player officially joined the 1965 pro golf tour today with the first round of the $65,000 Pensacola Open, and he thinks he may get his season off to a good start.

"Here it's not how hard you hit the ball but how well," Player said Wednesday after touring the 6,142-yard, par-72 Pensacola Country Club course in 69.

"The average greens today are being built too big," he said. "This is a good course."

The bantam belter from South Africa, who has been vacationing at his home the past few months, is one of 52 top-flight pros teeing off in the 72-hole open.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, neither of whom has won a tournament this year, are favored to give defending champion Player the hardest fight.

Palmer sank a 140-yard hole-in-one on the 11th Wednesday with a seven iron as he carded a 71 in the pro-am warmup, won by Frank Beard with a sizzling 65.

Miller Barber, who tied Palmer and Player in last year's Pensacola Open but lost in the playoff, was second with 66.

Sinkiang, site of China's first atomic explosion, is its biggest and least populated province. It is four times bigger than California, with 5,640,000 people.

Microwave TV Contract Made

Northern Michigan University and the Manistique TV Cable Co. have entered an agreement for microwave, educational TV service here. The system is to be put in operation in May.

A tower 300 feet high is to be constructed in Manistique and will be fed by towers to be built in Munising and at Walch, 28 miles from Manistique.

Under the agreement the cable company will provide free hook-ups to public and parochial schools and provide one channel. They also will maintain the lines installed to the schools without charge.

The University will telecast instructional, educational and cultural programs. A regular instructional program will be supplied to schools from studios on the NMU campus at Marquette.

In addition, various programs are provided for which arrangements can be made to obtain university credits. Cultural programs for the general public also will be provided.

The programs range from those for third and fourth grade level through high school to college and adult. Every subject taught in high school and college is offered.

Included are courses in history, literature, science, economics, mathematics, music, art, painting and vocational courses. Only cable viewers will receive the programs.

A three-year contract was entered for the service, with Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president, and L. VanTassel, vice president acting for the university and Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Renk for the Manistique TV Cable Co.

GLADSTONE

Board Ponders Gym Problem

Cost estimates of $312,000 to construct a new gymnasium at Gladstone high school were termed "high" by Supt. of Schools Wallace Cameron at a meeting of the Gladstone Board of Education this week.

The new addition to the high school was built for $14 a square foot, Cameron pointed out. This cost for the gym would amount to $16 per square foot.

The problem of improving facilities at Gladstone which was apparently solved with plans to construct an armory in the city soured when armory construction was halted throughout Michigan by Army and National Guard reorganization plans.

Gladstone's high school gymnasium, since Stephenson constructed new facilities, is the smallest in the Great Lakes Conference.

The Board of Education also heard a proposal from the curriculum study committee asking for changes in the time schedule and improvements in the vocational departments. It was referred to Supt. Cameron for further study.

A drop out study undertaken at Gladstone revealed the school system has lost 20 students since June 1, 1964. A total of 32 students have left classes, while 12 students have transferred into the system.

The Board also heard a report that library circulation had increased 30.7 per cent over last year with a circulation of 23,500 books. A year ago total circulation of 17,311.

High Rating For Miss Soderberg

RAPID RIVER — Margaret Soderberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Soderberg of Rapid River, received one of the highest ratings at the music festival held at Northern Michigan University, Saturday. Margaret, a junior at Rapid River High School, performed at the piano organ playing two movements of Beethoven's "Suite-Goethe," the "Introduction" and "Minuet." Margaret has had two years of organ lessons and six years of piano. Mrs. Helene Merki of Gladstone is her organ instructor.

Miss Soderberg is assistant organist at Rapid River Calvary Lutheran Church.

Guards Return From Training

Michigan National Guardsmen have returned to the 107th Engineer Company at Gladstone after spending six months of active duty with the United States Army.

Guardsmen were assigned to various installations throughout the United States for basic training and Army Service Schools.

Returning from Gladstone Pfc. Ronald J. Schram, who attended heavy equipment operations training; Pvt. Russell G. Ross, Roy R. Thorbahn, and Darrell Valiquette, basic engineer specialists; Pvt. Gerald J. Pelozo of Kipling, cooks school; Pfc. Duane A. LaCosse, Rock, heavy equipment operators; Pvt. Gerald R. Gagne, Bark River, radio operators school.

These men all received skilled training critically needed for the operation of heavy bridge building of Co. "E," 107th Engineer Co.

Enlistments are needed to fill various vacancies in the company and eligible persons between the ages of 17 and 38 are asked to contact the armory office on Delta Ave., between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. S-Sgt. Vernon Rousseau, information NCO, will be on hand to serve.

Hunters Peril Eagles Survival

IRONWOOD—They still talk sadly here of Patrick Henry.

Patrick Henry was a bald eagle, a regal specimen of the dignity that caused the Second Continental Congress to designate its kind as our national emblem.

It was found helpless and starving at Kenton, Mich., last May, a wing broken by a gunshot wound inflicted by a thoughtless hunter. Agents of the U.S. Forest Service and the Michigan Conservation Department captured the sick bird and an Ironwood veterinarian repaired the broken wing.

The eagle was named "Patrick Henry" by Forest Service Biologist G. W. Irvine. Irvine kept and fed the bird in his garage while its wound healed. He said it never ceased trying to escape to freedom, even while the injured wing was taped to its body.

Finally well enough to fly again, the eagle was set free on June 30, 1964, in the Ontonagon National Forest near the East Branch of the Ontonagon River, where it had been found.

But Patrick Henry's "second chance" was short lived. Last November the great bird was found shot again. This time it was dead. Identification was certain. A metal band placed on its leg by its earlier benefactors was still in place.

A fish eater, the bald eagle was once common along the seacoasts and inland waters of North America, but its members have dwindled until worried ornithologists now list it as an endangered species. Both the bald eagle and the similar golden eagle are now protected by federal law. Despite the law, however, studies by the National Audubon Society have shown that indiscriminate shooting continues to be a grave threat to both species.

Africa's highest point is Kilimanjaro (19,320 feet) and its lowest the Sahara Desert (150 feet).

Trooper Uses Gun First Time

Battle In Line Of Duty

By DAVE ANDREWS
Trooper Clarence A. Taylor of the Michigan State Police Post at Gladstone, out of uniform but still showing direct evidence of battle in the line of duty, smiled and sunk into a chair in the office.

"When you think of what could have happened," he sighed, "That's when it hits you."

"I've never had to draw a bead on a man before. That's the first time I've ever had to use my gun."

Tuesday afternoon, Taylor, a likeable guy who has been a member of the Michigan State Police since 1956, performed a duty that no police officer ever wants to do.

He shot a man.

The incident occurred while Taylor was attempting to make an arrest just inside the north Escanaba city limits on Highway U.S. 2 and 41. Wounded was Kenneth Jackson Phillips, 17, of Green Bay, Wis.

The bullet from Taylor's .38 caliber pistol struck Phillips in the rear of his right leg, ripped through the leg muscles and emerged in front. Phillips will recover from the wound.

Acted Perfectly

"If he would have run when I first stopped the car I don't think I would have shot," Taylor said. "But after what happened . . ."

Sgt. Hugh E. Pope, commanding officer at Gladstone, agreed. "He didn't make a mistake," Pope said. "He had a reason for using the gun and performed his duty perfectly."

The police reports of the incident show that Taylor, married since 1957 and father of three young girls, was on routine patrol near Escanaba when he was alerted to watch for a 1964-model bronze colored Buick with Wisconsin license number K19-478. Police believed that car was stolen.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins and still feel tired, your trouble may be due to iron-poor blood. Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! Because just two GERITOL tablets, or two tablespoons of liquid GERITOL, contain 7 vitamins plus twice the iron in 1-lb. of calves' liver.

In only one day GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream beginning to carry strength and energy to every part of your body. Check with your doctor and if you've been feeling tired because of iron-poor blood, take GERITOL, liquid or tablets, every day. You'll feel stronger fast in just 7 days or money back from GERITOL.

Clarence Taylor

At 1:42 p.m., Taylor radioed the post that he had spotted the car and requested assistance.

After stopping the car, the trooper removed the keys and asked the driver to come with him to the patrol car for questioning. The driver was unable to produce a driver's license and spelled his name two different ways.

Men Struggle

First the driver denied the car was stolen, then admitted taking it. Taylor decided to make an arrest and was attempting to handcuff the suspect when the youth opened the patrol car door.

Taylor grabbed him and the men struggled, Phillips striking the trooper in the face several times with a fist garbed with a walnut sized ring on one finger. When Taylor finally pinned the suspect's arms, the youth grabbed for the trooper's holster.

The flap came unsnapped, there was further battle and Phillips — perhaps a muscular 25 pounds heavier than Taylor — broke free, running toward Escanaba. Taylor, replacing his gun in the holster, began pursuit.

He shouted a warning to stop. Phillips ran on, meeting two carpenters who had been working on an American Timber Co. home who had noticed the struggle and were coming to assist the trooper—Omar La-Bombard, Rte. 1, Cornell, and Joseph Allard, Soo Hill.

"Stop him," Taylor shouted. "Use your hammer if you have to."

The men weren't quick enough. "Stop or I'll shoot," Taylor shouted again. The fugitive ran on.

Drawing his gun, the trooper issued another warning, then told the carpenters to get out of the way. He fired one shot, aimed at the legs, felling Phillips 125 feet away.

The car Phillips was driving turned out to have been stolen

Students Take Tests Tuesday

National merit scholarship tests will be given at the school cafeteria Tuesday beginning at 8:30 a.m., according to Don Pfotenauer, guidance director.

About 40 juniors have registered to take tests in English, mathematics, social studies, reading, natural science reading, and vocabulary which may, if they rank as finalists or semi-finalists, make them eligible to participate for further consideration for scholarships.

This is also an excellent opportunity to compare academic ability of the students with other students in the country.

from Puyleart Garage in Green Bay Monday night and Phillips, when his record was checked with Green Bay police, was no stranger to police affairs.

"The detectives in Green Bay didn't have to dig through their records to find out who he was," said Cpl. Paul Uerling at Gladstone. "They knew right away."

A parolee from the Wisconsin School for Boys at Wales, Phillips had escaped Brown County police near the reformatory Monday night after being stopped in a stolen car. Three others were arrested.

Eyes Swollen

Green Bay authorities were in Escanaba and Gladstone Wednesday, picking up the second stolen car for return and to interview Phillips.

Taylor, both eyes discolored from Phillips' blows, will return to duty.

"I see the swelling has gone down a little," Uerling kidded. "But they're getting a nice color."

"Yeh," Taylor sighed. "It still scares me when I think what could have happened."

CONFERRING with Michigan State University planners on recreational enterprises at the House of Ludington Wednesday were, from left, seated: G. Harold Earle, Hermansville, R. W. Lumber History Attraction For Tourists Urged

The quest for major tourist attractions in the Upper Peninsula brought leaders of the UPCA tourism investment project to Escanaba Wednesday to discuss with a few industrial leaders a proposed forest industries interpretative center for the mid-Upper Peninsula area.

Dr. Uel Blank of Michigan State University, which is financing the study project with the Area Redevelopment Administration, and Clarence Roy of Ann Arbor, of Johnson, Johnson & Roy, consultants, presented suggestions at the House of Ludington meeting.

Listening for industry were Frank Hoholik, Manistique; George Douglas and Russell Lee of Escanaba; Abbott Fox and B. W. Reeve, Iron Mountain; R. W. Jenner, Marquette; and G. Harold Earle, Hermansville.

MSC specialists in tourism and recreation business and Johnson, Johnson & Roy cited that history is very interesting—that people are more interested in it than in biology, for instance; that they'd rather see a restoration of an old country store than a wild animal or trees.

Great Potential

Planners believe that the Upper Peninsula's history has a great potential for development as an entertainment for tourists, and that its lumbering past has special possibilities.

One of the problems of the U. P. in developing its recreation image is that its visitors must pass through Wisconsin and Lower Michigan to get here and both these areas are attractive and well developed in the recreational business.

To pull customers through those areas to the U. P., it must develop some outstanding attractions. Mackinac County is planning such an attraction in a large gateway development. The Munising area has its waterfalls, the Copper Country and Iron ranges their unique attractions. The development of a forest industries complex in the mid-U. P. was suggested as a possibility of a major visitor attraction for this area.

The recreation specialists said it should be near a sizeable community, but that any of a number of communities would be suitable. To have major impact, it should, it was suggested, embody such units as a logging camp, river driving station, sawmill, and an industry interpretation center which would tell tourists by exhibits, movies and other means the history of wood industry in the Upper Peninsula, its importance, variety, romance—its present and its future.

Sylvan Disneyland

The industrialists' reaction was summed up by one: "A sort of junior Disneyland in the woods." The cost for a full blown execution of the plan would cost a million dollars or more. Where this would come from wasn't immediately apparent. The industrialists indicated interest of industry in an interpretative center, and cooperation of industry in offering plant tours for visitors in some situations, but regarded the offering of live displays (simulated sawmill, charcoal making, logging skill exhibits, etc.) as something for entertainment enterprises.

The suggestion that a U. P. Authority could organize tours of woodland enterprises for visitors, with historic logging and milling sites made accessible with displays and visits to forest industries, did not seem to impress the planners because its excellence would be scattered. They are seeking a concentration of exposure to forestry and wood industry.

Competition Piece

The need of the Upper Peninsula for such developments if it wants to compete with recreationally developed areas like the Great Smoky Mountains, which have increased their tourists phenomenally, was stressed. People are basically city-oriented and more familiar with people than with trees, so the wilderness environment which makes the Upper Peninsula so attractive to urban people must have something beside nature walks. Recreationists want to rough it on wall-to-wall carpets.

Clarence Roy said "There is increased interest in open, undeveloped land. With the population explosion that's on us, people are going to come here. You can just wait for them. But that's not enough to base an industry on. You need quality recreation."

The U. P., he said, has more history and quality woodlands than any other area in such close proximity to the population centers of the Midwest. "We can't tell your story yet," said Roy, "but we're sure you do have a story to tell."

Michigan Budget Items Boosted

LANSING (AP)—Supplemental appropriations of nearly $4 million for the current fiscal year were recommended today by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The figure was about $1.5 million higher than estimated in Gov. George Romney's budget—but State Controller Glenn Allen said under expenditures in other areas would more than cover the extra funds needed from now until June 30.

The extra funds would be little more than one-half of one per cent of the original $694 million in appropriations bills passed last year.

The Senate and House themselves would get nearly $900,000 of the extra appropriations, mostly to help finance extensive expansion and alteration of their space in the Capitol. The Senate is tabbed for $400,000, the House for $493,000.

The Mental Health Department is down for $760,000 plus a $1 million power plant project

Miss Taylor's Big Car Kills Irish Widow

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—"My God! My God! My God!" cried Elizabeth Taylor, jumping from her Rolls Royce and pillowing the dying Irish widow on a mink coat.

Sobbing hysterically, the film star rushed to aid Alice Ryan Wednesday after her chauffeur-driven car struck the 76-year-old woman. A spokesman for Miss Taylor said Mrs. Ryan stepped into the path of the car.

The accident occurred as Miss Taylor and her French chauffeur, Gaston Sanz, were returning from the funeral in France of Sanz' 17-year-old son. He was killed at a shooting gallery under circumstances which have not been clarified.

"I saw Miss Taylor get out of the car," a bystander said. "She was staggering about in the roadway with her hands to her head, crying and sobbing. "Then she walked to the dying woman, rolled her mink coat into a pillow and tried to comfort her while they waited for an ambulance."

Miss Taylor followed the ambulance to the hospital where Mrs. Ryan was pronounced dead.

Sanz was driving Miss Taylor from the airport to a studio where her husband, Richard Burton, was making a film. Burton was notified and went with the chauffeur to a police station.

Authorities said no charge had been filed.

A spokesman for Miss Taylor said Mrs. Ryan had walked onto a stretch of road with no speed limit and it was impossible to avoid her. The car skidded 50 yards and came to a stop facing the way it had come. It was badly damaged.

Snow Piled Up In Minnesota

By The Associated Press

Blustery weather which has buffeted north-central areas this week appeared tapering off today as the snow belt stretched southward deep into the Mississippi Valley.

Heavy snow, with gusty winds, hit sections of Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Missouri, Southern Illinois and western Kentucky. Amounts measured six inches in some areas and strong winds caused much drifting. Light snow continued in parts of South Dakota and Iowa and freezing drizzle fell on the heavy snow covering in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Cold air also spread from the northern Midwest into Southern areas, with freezing temperatures extending to San Antonio, Tex. Readings were in the teens and 20s in much of the Midwest snow belt, with lower marks in North Dakota.

In Minnesota, National Guardsmen were sent into the St. Cloud area by Gov. Karl Rolvaag to help clear streets and highways of snow which piled up to more than 2½ feet since the storm struck Monday.

Flood waters in southwestern sections of Minnesota appeared receding. However, overflow of the Root River affected some 800 homes in Rushford, Peterson and Houston.

Arntzen Awarded National Honor

The National Council of Architectural Registration, Washington, D. C., announces that it has issued its certificate to Arne Arntzen of G. Arntzen & Co., Escanaba architects, after his successful completion of its examination in February.

The accreditation thus conferred by certification by the National Council makes Arntzen eligible for architectural practice in any state of the nation. He had been a registered architect in Michigan since 1941. His partner in G. Arntzen & Co., Norman Arntzen, his nephew, is also registered as an architect in Michigan. The firm has been operating in Escanaba since 1905 and is one of the state's best known.

"You should be justifiably proud of your record which has allowed you to attain your NCARB certificate," Charles A. Wood, executive director of the National Council, wrote Arntzen.

A native of Norway who came to Escanaba with his architect father, Gothard Arntzen, from Norway as a child, Arntzen has been a resident of Escanaba since, except for several years in the Orient.

The object of the NCARB is "to promote high standards of preparation for architectural practice; to foster the enactment of laws pertaining to the practice of architecture; to equalize and improve the standards for the examination of applications for state registration or license; and to compile and transfer records to facilitate architectural registration or licensing between the states."

LEAGUE—The Grade League basketball program in Escanaba, which climaxed the regular season with a tournament that ended Sunday, is a top notch organization . . . It is run with great efficiency, with outstanding coaches in charge of teams and capable officials to handle the games . . . It is an excellent program and an extremely valuable one, not only in the fine athletes it helps to produce for the high schools of the area, but for the emphasis it puts on the important qualities of sportsmanship.

SCORER—Dave Vertanen, Chassell junior, finished the regular season with the best average of all Copper Country prep basketball players, a nifty 23.6 points per game . . . Three other players in the region who averaged over 20 were Eric Paavilainen of Painesdale, Joe Marinich of L'Anse and Pete Wickley of Hancock.

RECORD—Soo Tech closed out its winningest basketball season in history with a 90-81 overtime victory over downstate Alpena Community College . . . The triumph gave the Hornets a 20-4 season record . . . Although he scored only six placings in the finale, Pat Groleau of Nahma was credited with an outstanding rebounding performance by Coach Jack Brighton . . . Groleau finished his freshman season at Soo Tech with 369 points.

REBOUNDER—John Olson, former Escanaba athlete, closed out his four year basketball career at Michigan Tech as the Huskies upset St. Cloud, 79-76 . . . The 6 foot 5 inch senior was praised by Coach Verdie Cox for his steady floor game as the Huskies overcame a 12-point first half deficit.

CHARITY—Coach Stan Albeck's Northern Michigan Wildcats won their NAIA playoff game from Ferris, 67-61, from the charity line . . . The teams were even from the field with 92 goals but Northern converted 9 of 16 gift shots . . . The Bulldogs hit on only 3 of 11.

POINTS—Upper Peninsula high school basketball teams scored points this season at a pace never matched in previous history . . . No fewer than 24 century totals were registered during the regular campaign . . . Hermansville topped the 100 point mark five times, Trenary four times, St. Paul three, Trout Creek, Chassell and Pickford twice each and Escanaba, L'Anse, Bergland, Channing, Powers and Rapid River once apiece.

SWIMMERS—Coach Mike Mileski's Northern Michigan University swimmers shattered three records in their final meet of the season in which they defeated the Oshkosh YMCA team, 56-38 . . . Bob O'Keefe, Bob Gibson and Hugh Vestal set new standards in the 200 yard butterfly, 500 yard free style and 200 yard breaststroke events . . . The Northern team won two of five meets this season.

FROSH—Freshman Pat Miller finished up as the second leading scorer on the Menominee High School team this season with an even 200 points . . . Jim Uecke, a junior, topped the list with 218.

BOWLING—Dr. M. H. Garrard joined the triplicate bowlers last week, spilling successive 146 games while rolling in the Commercial League.

WOLVERINE—Tom Ludwig, former outstanding Sault Ste. Marie prep athlete, continues to see reserve action for the University of Michigan basketball team that is rapidly closing in on the Big Ten championship . . . The 5 foot 10 inch senior has played in nine games in which he has taken 10 shots and hit on four of them for eight points.

Emeralds Scare Class B Champs But Bow 52-47

RUDYARD—Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Manistique Emeralds made a mighty scare into Upper Peninsula Class B champion Rudyard here Wednesday night in the district tournament opener, before bowing in the closing minute of action, 52-47.

The lanky Emeralds took early command of the game and led by as much as 10 points in the first half, turning in an outstanding defensive job on the deliberate Bulldogs.

Mike Gray was a defensive standout in the first half, putting the clamps on tough Rick Crews, Daniel Carlson took over in the second half when Gray saw limited action because of illness. He was taken to the hospital in St. Ignace following the game, suffering from the flu.

Crusaders Gain Finals; Crush Mountaineer Quint

KINGSFORD—The Holy Name Crusaders nailed down a berth in the Class B district basketball tournament finals here last night when they blitzed Iron Mountain, 92-57.

That moves the Crusaders into the Saturday night finals against the winner of tonight's contest between Kingsford and Menominee.

It was smooth sailing all the way for Coach John Butrymowicz's cagers who breezed to a 26-12 lead in the first eight minutes of action. The Mountaineers were never able to recover from the first period shock, although they cut their deficit to 11 points at one stage. Everyone saw action for the Crusaders and 10 players contributed to the scoring total. Frank Trotter and Walter Veldman combined for 44 points, Jim Micheau tossed in 15 and Bill O'Connell 10 to set the pace.

Mike Kidd turned in a good defensive job on Iron Mountain's Bill Sauter, holding him to 13 points before giving way to the Crusader reserves in the late going. Sauter finished with 23 points to tie Trotter for individual scoring honors.

The Crusaders hit on 34 of 79 field goal attempts and were deadly from the line with 24 of 30 gift tosses. The Mountaineers hit on 21 of 62 from the field and 15 of 19 from the line.

Trotter boosted his season scoring total to 345 and his career mark to 934.

Stan Albeck, Northern coach, will be interviewed on Channel 4 television tonight at 8 in a program that will be seen over the Delta Cable TV system here.

coaches Sunday, Albeck is a veteran of four trips to the Kansas City playoffs.

His five state conference championships in eight years at NMU came in 1958, 1959, 1961 and 1965. His best tournament finish was in 1961, when Northern placed third among 32 teams.

Northern won its playoff berth Monday with a 67-61 victory over Ferris—just six days after Ferris had whipped Northern 93-87 on the same Big Rapids court.

Pairings for the first round of the playoffs will be announced Friday.

Boddy's Royals Win Opener In Tourney

By RAY CRANDALL (Press Sports Editor)

Fred Boddy, regarded by many as the finest basketball player in Escanaba High School history, returned to his alma mater in a new role Wednesday night as coach of the Marquette Bishop Baraga Royals and guided his cagers to an easy 85-68 victory over Norway in Class C district tournament action.

It was evident that Boddy, in his first campaign as coach of the Royals after three highly successful years at Champion, has imparted no small degree of his basketball skill to his players.

Among the things they showed to the fair sized crowd was an ability to hit the bucket when they had an opportunity. They banged in 36 field goals and converted 13 of 19 free throw attempts to crush Coach Vic Pochesato's Knights.

The Knights, more familiar to Escanaba sports fans as the Vikings before the Dickinson County school absorbed Quinnesec in a consolidation last year, did not roll over and play dead. They had trouble finding the hoop in the early going but out-rebounded the Royals to stay within shooting distance, 18-15, at the end of the first period.

With slick guard Bruce Pesola leading the way, Bishop Baraga spread its lead to 42-34 at the intermission. They sailed it away with a 27-11 third frame for a 69-45 cushion entering the fourth period in which reserves played most of the way.

Pesola hit a hot 32 points on 13 field goals and 6 free throws. Two other Baraga juniors, Tom Alholm and Tom LaCasse, teamed up for 22 points and Rich Balmes contributed 14.

Two Knights reached double figures with Bruce Mattson tossing in 24 and Ron Warner 16. The Knights clicked on 20 of 33 free throw shots to go with their 24 field goals.

The victory was Marquette Baraga's third, and most decisive, this season over Norway. The previous margins were 83-79 and 79-69.

The Knights will carry a 14-5 record into the Saturday night championship game against the winner of tonight's contest between Stephenson and Gwinn. Winner of the Saturday night title game will advance to the Upper Peninsula regional tournament at Northern Michigan University in Marquette next week.

Rapid River Free Throws Defeat Rock

ROCK—The Rapid River Rockets needed a clutch free throw shooting performance to get past the host Rock Little Giants in Class D district tournament action here Wednesday night, 54-49.

Outscored by four field goals, 22 to 18, Coach Bill McGovern's Rockets cashed in on 18 of 28 opportunities from the free throw line, coming off 20 Rock personal fouls. The Little Giants had only 8 chances from the line and hit on 5 of them.

Doug Moss, 6 foot 2 inch senior scoring star, kept the Rockets in front in the tense fourth quarter by dropping in 9 of 10 gift shots. He took scoring honors for the night with 28 points while Pat Larrabee came through with 14 for the winners.

Bob Maki matched Moss in field goals with nine but made only one free throw for his total of 19 points. Steve Rabi-deau and Larry LaCasse also hit in double figures for Coach Roman Gill's Little Giants.

It was Rapid's third victory over Rock this season. The triumph gives the Rockets a 13-5 record while Rock closed the books on the season with a 9-10 mark.

State Cage Champ Beaten

By The Associated Press

Defending Class D champion Britton-Macon was the first to be dethroned in the 40th annual Michigan State High School basketball tournament during Wednesday night's District play.

Waldrone edged Britton 68-66, but the defeat was overshadowed by more stirring drama.

Meanwhile Dryden, No. 7 in Class D, walloped Marine City Holy Cross 133-35 for a school—and probably District tourney—record.

In other Class D games, second-ranked Negaunee St. Paul dumped Michigamme 89-5 sixth-rated Saginaw Holy Rosary dismantled Essexville St. Joseph 69-52, North Adams, No. 9, eliminated Camden-Frontier 63-52 and Felch edged Carney 51-49.

In other Class B games, defending champion and No. 1 ranked River Rouge ousted Inkster Cherry Hill 77-42, and Lowell, No. 6, bounced Caledonia 84-65.

In Class C action, second-ranked Hancock bombed Houghton 79-55, fourth-rated Detroit St. Hedwig eliminated Detroit St. Thomas walloped Detroit St. Vincent 111-60, Mason county Central got 38 points from Mike Hankwitz to oust Frankfort 84-67 and Tom Lick notched 30 Gaylord defeated Onaway 82-48.

Dominic Jacobetti notched 33 points and teammate George Torreano added 27 as St. Paul rolled to its 20th straight Class D triumph over Michigamme. Al Blomquist's 31 points, including a clinching field goal at the final horn, helped Felch rout Carney.

Pete Wickley's 28 points paced unbeaten Hancock to its 18th straight victory.

Former outfielder Johnny Groth will scout for the Milwaukee Braves in 1965.

Ishpeming Nips Gladstone Team In Class B Tilt

NEGAUNEE—The margin of a single free throw knocked Coach Bill Wood's Gladstone Braves out of tournament action as they bowed to the Ishpeming Hematites, 54-53, in Class B competition at the Memorial Gym here Wednesday night.

The teams were almost exactly even in all departments in the tight contest.

The Braves hit on 20 of 65 shots from the field and Ishpeming connected on 20 of 64. The Braves added 13 of 18 free throws, the Hematites 14 of 19.

The Braves hauled down 41 rebounds, Ishpeming 40. Gladstone owned a nine point lead at one stage in the first half and led 31-27 at the intermission. The Braves were seriously hurt by a cold third frame in which they scored only eight points, trailing 44-39 entering the finale.

The Braves staged a determined rally in the closing minute of action to wipe out a 54-49 deficit. Rick Ebbesen hit a pair of free throws and Bruce Hawkinson added a field goal to cut it to a single point. And with three seconds remaining the Braves had a final opportunity to snatch the victory but a field goal attempt by Gary Englund missed by inches.

Chatham Keglers Win Tournament

The Chatham Co-op keglers captured team honors in the three-woman team bowling tournament which ran for three weekends at the Holiday Bowl. They rolled a 1701 total.

Alpha, Felch Score Upsets In D District

POWERS-SPALDING—A pair of teams that had tasted nothing but defeat from their opponents during the regular season turned on their tormentors here Wednesday night in Class D district tournament action.

Felch upset the Carney Wolves, 51-49, and Alpha surprised the host Tigers, 67-61.

During the regular season Carney had downed Felch three times by margins of 3, 7 and 32 points. And during the regular campaign the Tigers had defeated Alpha twice, by margins of 5 and 13 points.

Both the winners used the free throw line as a springboard to victory last night. Felch was outscored by four goals, 21 to 17, but tossed in 17 of 25 from the line to make up for it.

Gary Blomquist was the big gun for Coach Carl Lemm's quint, hitting nine field goals and a dozen free throws for 30 points, 21 of them in the first half. Cliff Perras topped the Carney attack with 22 points. The Wolves converted 7 of 16 free throw opportunities.

The margin of victory came at the buzzer when Regan Grunlund tipped in a field goal after Blomquist's long jumper was slightly off target. Grunlund finished with 14 points for Felch.

Alpha was three goals short of the Tigers, 25 to 22, but the Mastodons pumped in a stream of 23 free throws in 30 attempts for their victory margin. The Tigers made 11 of 25 from the line.

Coach Gary Gollakner's Alpha cagers took only the good

England turned in an outstanding performance and chipped in 8 points while Bruce Ellison added 14. Ebbesen took scoring honors for the night with 22 points on nine goals and four free throws to close his final season with 351 points and a 20.6 average.

The Braves held Doug Pertunen to six points but Bill Zhulkie came through with 14 and Alan Morrison 13 for the Hematites.

Swim Club To Challenge Suspension Of Four Gals

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A Sydney swimming club is taking the first official step to challenge the suspension of four Olympic girl swimmers by the Australian Swimming Union.

The Auburn Club, to which Nan Duncan and Linda McGill belong, decided to seek a review of the suspensions.

The club management committee instructed its secretary, Jack Turner, to write today to the New South Wales Amateur Swimming Association, one of the six Australian state bodies whose delegates form the ASU.

Turner is asking that Auburn's motion for a review of the suspensions be brought before the next meeting of the state associations.

Miss McGill was expelled from the ASU for four years, Miss Duncan for three years, Olympic champion Dawn Fraser for 10 years and Marlene Dayman for three years, all on charges of misbehavior at the Tokyo Games.

Turner said the severity of the sentences was the key factor in his club's move to have the expulsions reviewed.

"We do not argue the fact that the girls should have been penalized but the penalties appear very stiff," said Turner.

The girls were expelled after a weekend meeting in Hobart but no reasons were announced for the expulsions.

ASU President Dr. Donald Dowling, questioned by reporters, agreed that the four girls' marching in the Games' opening ceremony against instructions was one of the reasons.

Miss Fraser has admitted she did not wear the official swimsuit in the races. The official one was too tight, she said.

Her own book, however, may have indicted Miss Fraser.

In a book entitled "Gold Medal Girl," published by the Landsdowne Press, the married, 27-year-old Olympic queen told of one incident in Tokyo when she and some companions were involved in a flag souvenir-hunting expedition at the Imperial Palace in Tokyo. The incident occurred the night before the closing ceremony of the Games.

Dawn tells in the book how she was chased by the police and fell and twisted an ankle as she tried to get away, and when she was about to swim the royal moat.

Dawn says in the book she was hit by batons and taken to Marunouchi police station at 4 a.m. She eventually was released when her identity was established and she had signed a document apologizing to the police and the Japanese people.

Dawn says she got to bed at 6:45 a.m. that day—the day she carried the Australian flag in the closing ceremony.

Whether the palace incident had anything to do with Dawn's expulsion by the ASU has not been stated.

Winner May Get Crack At Clay Next September

CHICAGO (AP)—Winner of the World Boxing Association-sanctioned heavyweight title bout between Ernie Terrell and Eddie Machen Friday night may get a September match here with Cassius Clay, generally accepted heavyweight champion.

Sponsors of the 15-round Terrell-Machen scrap at the International Amphitheatre disclosed today that Clay spokesmen approached them concerning the September bout, possibly at Comiskey Park.

Irvy Schoenwald, co-promoter of Friday night's fight, said that if Clay chose to fight Terrell or Machen, a better site would be McCormick Place, capable of seating 20,000.

"We could get closed-circuit television coverage equal to any available elsewhere and it would be better holding the fight indoors for TV purposes," said Schoenwald.

Ben Bentley, veteran fight publicist handling the Terrell-Machen bout, said Herbert Muhammad, son of Black Muslim head, Elijah Muhammad, and John Ali, secretary of the Negro sect to which Clay belongs as Muhammad Ali, expressed interest in a Chicago title defense against Friday night's winner.

Clay reportedly now is in Miami, Fla., gearing for intensive preparation for his May 25 rematch with Sonny Liston in Boston.

It was because of Clay's agreement to a rematch with Liston that the WBA stripped Cassius of his title in the 48 states under its jurisdiction, New York and Massachusetts, plus the British Boxing Board, still regard Clay as reigning heavyweight champ.

Meanwhile, Terrell, 6-foot-6 Chicagoan rated No. 1 contender by the WBA, and third-ranked Machen, father of four from Redding, Calif., took it easy the day before their tangle for the WBA crown.

Machen, 32-year-old veteran of 10 pro seasons, is guaranteed $20,000 or 30 per cent of the receipts. His record is 47-5-2.

Terrell, 25, will get a straight 30 per cent of receipts. Terrell has a 36-4 record, including 12 straight victories.

Benton Harbor Gets Warning

By The Associated Press

If Benton Harbor has another Class A high school basketball championship on its mind, it may have to send someone down to the Detroit suburb of Hamtramck to find out what makes the Cosmos tick.

Third-rated Hamtramck, already conquerors of fifth-ranked Ferndale, turned their considerable guns loose on Royal Oak Dondero Wednesday night and ran away with a 61-39 triumph.

Dondero tried a deliberate stall to slow down the Cosmos but it didn't work. Hamtramck, behind John Brisker's 22 points and 16 from Rudy Tomjanovich, led 41-31 at the end of three quarters and ran away with their 16th victory in 17 games. The loss was to Class B power River Rouge.

It's still a long way to East Lansing and the semi-finals but few Detroit area fans wouldn't be surprised to see Hamtramck bracketed against Benton Harbor.

In other Class A action, eighth-rated Saginaw outlasted Saginaw Arthur Hill 84-80, contender East Detroit stopped Harper Woods Notre Dame 78-71, Niles Walloped St. Joseph 95-81 to get another crack at Benton Harbor and unimpressive Farmington, which won only four games all year, whipped Detroit Redford Union for its second straight district victory.

Gilmer Adds Final Coach

DETROIT (AP)—Harry Gilmer, new Detroit Lions coach, completed his staff Wednesday with the signing of former Lion player Carl Brettschneider as defensive line coach of the National League club.

Thus the Lions coaching reorganization was completed within less than three months after the Christmas-time firings of former Coach George Wilson's five aides and Wilson's subsequent quitting.

Owner William Clay Ford, looking for a "fresh start," had ordered the firings of the five and Wilson resigned indignantly a few days later.

Brettschneider, former Iowa State star, was a Lion linebacker in the 1960-63 seasons but spent last year as a scout for the team after being sidelined by a knee injury.

The other members of Gilmer's staff include Aldo Forte, offensive line coach who was resigned after his dismissal with Wilson's other four aides, and John North, offensive backfield coach; Carl Tareff, defensive backfield coach, and Ray Renfro, pass receivers coach.

Titans Fashion Final Victory

DETROIT (AP)—The University of Detroit, completing its third best season in Titan basketball history, bombarded Hillsdale 80-61 Wednesday night in its season finale.

Detroit roared to a 40-24 half-time lead and coasted the rest of the way to its 19th victory in 26 games. The National Invitational Tournament-bound Titans posted their best season in 1949-50 with a 20-6 mark. They had a 20-7 mark in 1959-60.

Lew Hyatt led Detroit with 21 points. Terry Page added 14 and Dorrie Murray 13. Bruce McLenna had 18 for Hillsdale.

Red Wings Add To Hawks' Woe

By The Associated Press

Their precarious perch atop the National Hockey League is becoming increasingly slippery for the Chicago Black Hawks, who never have won the regular season pennant race.

Detroit's ambitious Red Wings greased the Hawks' skidding nest a little more Wednesday night with a 2-0 victory. Boston battered New York 6-1 in the only other game played.

The defeat left the Black Hawks a scant three points in front of Detroit and Montreal as the NHL season turns into its final month. And, both the Canadiens and Red Wings have three more games to play than Chicago. That gives both a six-point potential that Chicago can't do anything about.

The Black Hawks couldn't do anything about Detroit's rookie goalie Roger Crozier Wednesday night. The youngster kicked out 30 shots and recorded his sixth shutout of the season, stretching Chicago's winless string to three.

Werth's Goal Is No. 1 Rank As Third Baseman

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—No. 3 isn't magic to Don Werth. He was the No. 3 ranking fielder among American League third basemen last season.

This year the young Detroit Tiger's goal is No. 1.

Werth told Wednesday, as the Tigers officially opened spring training, how he plans to achieve the goal.

"I'll just have to try harder and not allow myself to relax when I'm on the field," he said.

Werth, 26, joined all the other players expected at the opening of training, except outfielder Purnell Goldy who failed to report. Tigers officials said they did not know why Goldy was absent.

Werth, who hit .257 in 1964, his first full year in the majors, wants to hit .280 this season.

"It took me quite a while to learn all the pitchers in the league and that accounted for my slow start," Werth said. "If I can just pick up where I left off I'll do all right."

He said he'll enter the 1965 campaign with a more comfortable feeling since he has proved himself as a fielder and can concentrate on his hitting.

Werth hit nine homers and batted in 55 runs, missing his 10-homer goal by one last season.

He wants to hit 10 homers because "it just looks better on paper than nine."

"But I can get the extra base hits at the right time and drive in a few more runs, I will be happy," he added.

Werth spent the winter selling sports equipment.

The Tigers put in a full day of practice Wednesday despite a light rain shower which hit the area at mid-morning.

Batting practice and running took up most of the time.

At a brief team meeting before drills the players decided to wait until today to name a player representative to replace coach Mike Roarke.

Dartmouth Indians Pull Major Basketball Upset

By The Associated Press

The St. Joseph's Hawks won their 15th straight, the Connecticut Huskies won their 14th straight and the Princeton Tigers won their 10th in a row.

Nevertheless, the Hawks, the Huskies and the Tigers yielded the college basketball spotlight today to the down-trodden Dartmouth Indians.

Beaten in 33 straight Ivy League games, the longest losing streak in the history of the league, the Indians smote Brown 84-70 on their home court at Hanover, N.H.

It was Dartmouth's first Ivy victory since Feb. 8, 1963 when the Indians beat Columbia 58-57.

The Indians came from 11 points back to score their memorable victory. Chris Kinum, a 6-foot-4 junior from East Orange, N.J., playing in his first game of the season, provided the spark. He scored only 11 points, but his floor play, rebounding and defensive work was a big factor.

Once beaten St. Joseph's, third-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, upped its record to 25-1 by whipping St. Bonaventure 95-87 at Philadelphia behind Cliff Anderson's 27 points and Tom Duff's 25.

Unranked Connecticut, which meets St. Joseph's in the first round of the NCAA tournament Monday, made its record 22-2 by overwhelming Colgate 101-66 at Hamilton, N.Y., behind Toby Kimball's 28 points.

Princeton, also headed for the NCAA, upped its record to 19-5 by defeating Penn 81-71 in All-America Bill Bradley's final game on the Tigers' Dillon Gym court. The two-time All-America and Player of the Year scored 19 points and was given a three-minute standing ovation when he was taken out in the last minute.

Ninth-ranked Villanova, the only other team in The AP Top Ten to play Wednesday night, trampled Seton Hall 84-63 at South Orange, N.J. Bill Melchionni, with 22, and Jim Washington, with 16 combined for 38 points as the Wildcats, NIT-bound, boosted their record to 20-4.

Louisville thwarted Wichita's bid to nail down the Missouri Valley Conference championship by scoring a 79-70 home court victory over the Wheatshockers. John Reuther's 29 points and Eddie Creamer's 20 paced the Cardinals.

Ed Jucker, who resigned as Cincinnati coach last week, closed out his career as Bearcat mentor on a victorious note. The Bearcats whipped their city rival, Xavier, 102-72, then carried Jucker off the court.

Lakers Spill Celtics Twice

BOSTON (AP)—Coach Fred Schaus isn't surprised that the Los Angeles Lakers took two of the only three games the Boston Celtics have lost on their home court this season.

"Any time we play the Celtics we feel we're going to win," Schaus said Wednesday night after Los Angeles came away with a 104-102 victory at Boston. "If we didn't, we should hang up."

That's a proper attitude for the team most likely to meet the Celtics in the finals of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs. But Boston still holds a 7-3 season edge over the Lakers.

St. Louis beat Philadelphia 124-110, Baltimore walloped Cincinnati 151-108 and Detroit downed San Francisco 110-107 in other games Wednesday night.

State Briefs

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit City Council has passed a resolution asking the legislature to permit Sunday liquor sales in Detroit as a lure to convention and tourist business.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Support of a Lake Central Airlines request for authority to begin scheduled service between Louisville, Ky., and here was voiced Wednesday by the Greater Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce. The chamber claimed that federal granting of the request would provide single-plane service eliminating a stopover in Chicago and resulting in lower fares for patrons of the run.

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Western Michigan University said Tuesday that R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, would be the main speaker at the school commencement June 12.

BAY CITY (AP)—Automation is a "dismal failure" as far as City Manager Casimer Jablonski is concerned. Jablonski says computers used to figure out water bills here haven't contributed "one iota of efficiency." In fact, he says, it takes longer to get the bills out than it did when mere people did the work.

DETROIT (AP)—Outcome of the March 1-2 union representation election among Checker Cab Co. drivers here remained in doubt Wednesday because of 216 challenged ballots, the National Labor Relations Board office said. Of the unchallenged votes, 454 were cast for the Seafarers International Union, AFL-CIO, and 261 for no union, the NLRB reported.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Board of Army Engineers has approved 13 projects, or modifications of existing projects, for rivers and harbors. If the chief of Army Engineers agrees, Congress will be asked to authorize the projects, and to appropriate money to pay for them. Included in the recommendations is an estimated $785,000 project for Cedar River Harbor, Mich.

Luther League

Calvary's Luther League had 19 members present at its recent meeting. The meeting was conducted by Ruth Gullickson, the League's new president. The league decided to discontinue meetings during the Lenten season. Members will take turns caring for the church nursery at Wednesday Lenten services.

Two special activities will be held this month, March 14, a bowling party, and March 21, a visit to Delta County's Nursing Home. A skit, "Meaning of Pentecost," was portrayed by Deanna Dutton and Barbara Oberg.

Ice cream sundaes were served by the Whitefish Hill team, Deanna Dutton, captain.

State Tax Rate Average $37.62

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Assessors reported Wednesday it has certified the average 1965 Michigan tax rate as $37.62 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The rate will be levied against the 1965 assessed valuations of public utilities assessed by the board. These include the properties of railroads, telephone and telegraph companies, car-loading firms and similar utilities.

The board compiled reports of all taxes levied in all units of local government and certified that $991.2 billion had been levied in property taxes in 1964 in all assessing districts in the state. This represented a $56.3 million increase over 1963.

The average tax rate for 1965 was $1.38 cents above the 1964 rate of $36.24.

FILER CITY (AP)—Pulpwood sales brought a record $636,000 to Lake County loggers whose output last year led northwest Lower Michigan's $2.25 million lumbering industry. Figures compiled by Packaging Corp. of America here showed Oscoda County second on timber crop sales of $554,000 and Manistee County third on sales of $402,000. Lake County lumbering topped the county's agricultural output by $3,000.

LANSING (AP)—The Index of prices paid to Michigan farmers for all commodities rose four points, or two per cent, from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.

Price increases for corn, potatoes, meat animals and eggs more than offset drops for beans and wholesale milk, the service said.

The index of prices paid by farmers rose one point during the same period.

Auto Sales Set Another Record

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. auto makers chalked up their biggest February sales in history last month—15 per cent ahead of the previous record set in February 1963.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler dealers rewrote practically every page of the sales record book as they posted sizeable increases over February of last year. American Motors was the only U.S. auto maker to show a sales decline for the month.

Final figures showed sales totaled 679,145 last month, compared with the industry's sales of 588,980 in the second month of last year.

Chrysler chalked up the biggest sales percentage increase last month with a 42 per cent jump over February, 1963 figures; Ford at 13.5 per cent and GM at 14 per cent ran virtually a dead heat in percentage increase. AMC was off 29.6 per cent over February, 1963.

E. M. (Pete) Estes, GM vice president and general manager of its Pontiac division, summed up the reports of most auto makers when he commented:

"Our immediate problem is to build enough autos to stock our dealers with an adequate inventory to meet the needs of our customers. Unfilled customer orders are continuing at a very high level and we have increased our production schedules to meet this unprecedented demand for autos."

Donald N. Frey, Ford vice president and general manager of its Ford division, pointed out that last month's strong sales record was achieved in one less selling day than was available in February, 1963.

Frey said the selling rate of 6,710 units per day in the final 10 days of February marked a new high for any Feb. 21-28 period. The old mark of 5,626 was set last year.

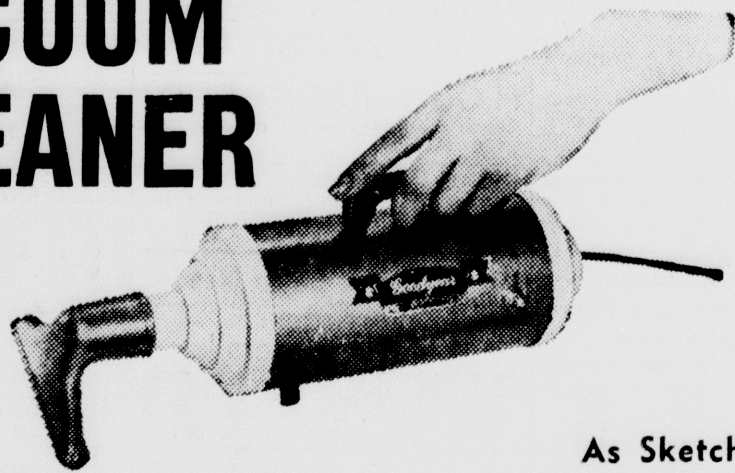

Auto makers pointed out that the blistering sales pace last month was attained despite blizzard conditions which hit a major section of the country in the final days of February.
